FRENCH HURL NAZIS BACK 5 MILES; PARIS OPEN CITY

By the Associated Press

Fiercely counter-attacking French troops swept the nearest German invaders back five miles in the narrowing siege of Paris today, the French war ministry stated.

Simultaneously, the German high command was reported preparing to broadcast a "surrender or be destroyed" ultimatum against France's beautiful capital.

Naiz armies were attacking the "last ditch" defenders of Paris from three sides.

Paris Declared "Open City"

The German demand for capitulation, Berlin reported, would follow the procedure in the case of Warsaw, capital of Poland, and Rotterdam, capital of Holland.

Warsaw, refusing to surrender, was bombed and shelled to ruins. Rotterdam capitulated in time to save much of the city.

General Hering, military governor of Paris announced that the capital had become an "open city" and would not be defended. This action was taken to avoid destruction of the beautiful metropolis.

Berlin asserted the fate of Paris would probably be decided "within the next hours."

2,000,000 Nazis in Drive

The Nazi high command said operations along the entire front were "progressing rapidly" and that columns of the main German army of 2,000,000 men had captured Chalons-Sur-Marne, about 25 miles south of the great French cathedral city of Reims.

The Germans asserted Reims had already fallen. The French denied it.

With flames of the main conflict spreading, Turkey reaffirmed her pledges of mutual military assistance to the Allies and dismissed Premier Mussolini's offer to respect her neutrality as "worthless."

FRANCE IN PLEA TO U. S.

Egypt, too, verged on joining the battle. The ancient kingdom of the Nile placed all its communication systems, air and naval bases and ports at the disposal of Great Britain, and promised the "greatest possible assistance" in the war against Italy.

While Britain rushed thousands of fresh troops, tanks and guns to bolster the hard-driven French defenders of Paris, Premier Reynaud of France addressed a dramatic appeal to President Roosevelt asking him to make a public declaration that the United States would give all aid to the Allies save an expeditionary force "before it is too late."

He also announced that the French if necessary would withdraw to their African possessions—even their American possessions—to carry on the war against Germany.

His statement apparently doomed German hopes that France might surrender if Paris were captured, as she did in 1870.

Gen. Weygand's polius hurled back the Nazis five miles in the vicinity of Beaumont, only 12 miles from the suburbs of Paris. It was here, according to the French, that the Germans had driven their deepest salient toward Paris.

DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS in the battle of Paris. At St. Valery-en-Caux (1) British admit 6000 troops captured by Nazi channel forces. Bitter fighting goes on from Rouen to Pont de l'Arche (2) with Nazis attempting to make a Seine crossing in force to envelope the Allied left wing now anchored at Mantes (3). At Beaumont (4) French successfully counterattacked though Nazi forces (5) came close to the outskirts of Paris, now declared an "open city." The Marne has been crossed at Chateau Thierry (6) and Reims (7) has been taken by the Germans. Chalons-sur-Marne (8) is in the German grasp and may mean the start of an enveloping movement against the Maginot Line.

Nazi Bases Raked by Air Raiders

LONDON, June 13 (INS)—Violent British air raids on German objectives in France and Norway were announced by the air ministry today.

Planes of the fleet air arm and the costal command successfully attacked German vessels at Boulogne, the announcement said, blowing up a motor torpedo-boat. Many bombs burst among other ships and ammunition barges. The harbor, mole and military objectives ashore were bombed.

British planes last night bombed Vaerles airdrome in Norway, hitting the runways and barracks. Planes also bombed German supply ships near Bergen.

French Planes Bomb 3 German Cities

TOURS, France, June 13 (AP)—French bombing planes have attacked the German cities of Mannheim, Neustadt and Frankfort, a war ministry spokesman said today.

Lindbergh Urges U. S. to Arm For Defense But to Shun War

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—A dark picture of the Alllies' military position in Europe, combined with a warning that America must urgently "arm to the teeth," had been given a group of congressional leaders by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, it was learned today.

Lindbergh, appearing unheralded in the capital, conferred with five Senators and one Representative last night and made plans for another radio address to the nation to urge that America prepare for war, but remain aloof meanwhile from the European conflict. It will be his third radio speech since the guns began to roar in Europe last September.

FORETOLD POWER

The "Flying Colonel," who foretold Germany's immense fighting power in the air a full year before the war began, was understood to have given his congressional audience an extremely gloomy picture of the Allies' military situation.

While he made no precise predictions as to the war's outcome, he appeared to feel that Great Britain and France have little chance for victory.

He urged, therefore, that America plan to meet any emergency. Presumably he repeated the advice given in his recent radio speech, however—that the country determine exactly what it meant to defend, whether the continental United States or the whole Western Hemisphere, before mapping its air policy.

Present at the meeting in the office of Sen. Bennett Clark (D.) of Missouri were Senators Clark, Shipstead (F.-L.) of Minnesota, Worth Clark (D.) of Idaho, La-Follette (P.) of Wisconsin, Wheeler (D.) of Montana and Rep. Van Zant (R.) of Pennsylvania, former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

All have been consistent and vocal foes of any participation by the United States—military or diplomatic—in the present European conflict. Wheeler, who had announced that he would support Pres. Roosevelt for a third term, said yesterday that he would bolt both the President and the Democratic party if the latter became what he called a "war party."

Lindbergh has been an equally vigorous defender of the isolationist point of view. In a recent radio broadcast, he in effect, accused the Roosevelt administration of war mongering.

WAR BULLETINS

TOURS, France, June 13 (INS)—The Paris area was heavily bombed this morning shortly after the capital was proclaimed an open city, according to word received by American embassy officials here. The French War Ministry announced that the French had no intention of defending Paris itself.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 13 (AP)—The British Air Force did extensive damage to military objectives in Ethiopia yesterday as well as raiding Asmara, Eritrea, British sources here said today. Airdromes were bombed in the latter town, also in Gura, where hangars were demolished.

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Ankara today said Turkey had called up some additional classes of troops and reserve officers.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 13 (AP)—Egypt placed all her communication systems, air and naval bases and ports at the disposal of Great Britain today and pledged her ally the "greatest possible assistance" in the war against Italy.

Reynaud Begs F. D. Send Aid to France

TOURS, France, June 13 (AP)—An appeal by Premier Reynaud to President Roosevelt for a public declaration that the United States would give all aid to the Allies save an expeditionary force and to send the help "before it is too late" was disclosed today.

The premier declared that the French would, if need be, shut themselves up in one of their provinces, or go to North Africa or even to possessions in America to carry on the fight against Germany.

France's possessions in America are French Guiana in South America; the Islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe in the West Indies, and Saint Pierre and Miquelon off the coast of Newfoundland.—Editor's Note.

The appeal was conveyed in a message to Mr. Roosevelt, dated June 10—the day Italy declared war on France and Great Britain and the day that the President, in his Charlottesville, Va., speech promised material aid for the Allies.

TEXT OF APPEAL

The text of the message was issued here and in the United States by agreement between the Premier and the President, an official announcement said. Tours is one of the present seats of the French government.

The text of Reynaud's message, as given out in Tours, follows:

The following message is published in France and the United States by agreement between Roosevelt, President of the United States, and Reynaud, premier of France:

"Mr. President, I wish to express to you my deep gratitude for the generous aid which you have decided to accord us in aviation, material and armaments.

"For six days and six nights our divisions have been fighting without an hour of rest against an army of crushing superiority in manpower and material. The enemy today is almost at the gates of Paris.

GOING TO ARMIES

"We are struggling in front of Paris. We are struggling behind Paris. We will shut ourselves up in one of our provinces and if we are pursued we will go to North America and if need be to our possession in America.

"Part of the government already has left Paris. I myself am going to the armies. It will be to intensify the struggle with all the forces we command and not to abandon it. Can I ask you, Mr. President, to explain all that yourself to your people, to all United States citizens, telling them we are resolved to sacrifice ourselves in the struggle we are leading for all free men.

"At the hour I speak to you another dictator has just struck France in the back. A new fron-

SAFER HAVEN—Arriving from London aboard a Dutch warship, Crown Princess Juliana of Holland and her two daughters, Beatrix, 2½ (front) and Irene, nine months (carried by nursemaid), leave boat at Halifax. Today, royal refugees were en route to Canadian vacation spot near Ottawa.

OVER SUEZ—An important link in the lifeline of the British Empire, the Suez Canal today is heavily guarded . . . prepared for possible strike by Italy. Here, a flight of British planes patrol the area.

Vatican Newspaper Bans All War News

VATICAN CITY, June 13 (AP)—Vatican authorities decided today to continue publication of the daily newspaper Osservatore Romano without any war news whatever to avoid conflict with Italian authorities.

Both Vatican and Italian sources had previously announced suspension of the nespaper for the duration of the war, but an informed source said authorities reconsidered this action with a decision to carry on publication without even war communiques.

ITALY BOMBS FRENCH NAVAL BASES; SINKS BRITISH SHIPS

ROME, June 13 (AP)—The Italian air force last night bombed the French Mediterranean naval bases of Toulon and Bizerta, the high command announced today in its second communique of the war.

"Huge fires were started and damage was caused to buildings," at Bizerta, on the Mediterranean south coast in French Tunisia, the communique said, and nine grounded planes were "put out of action."

Toulon is in France proper east of Marseille. All Italian planes were said to have returned safely.

An air alarm was sounded twice during the night at Milan, the Italian radio reported today.

An Italian submarine in the Mediterranean "torpedoed a cruiser and a 10,000-tone tanker, the communique said. The vessels were believed to have been British and presumed to have been sunk.

Italian planes "unloaded a few bombs in the Red Sea in a fruitless attempt to raid Aden," an important British base, the London Daily Express reported from Cairo.—Editor's Note.

Other activity of Germany's partner against the Allies remained a military secret.

A proclamation by King Vittorio Emanuele to all the peoples of his empire, calling on them to enter wholeheartedly into the struggle which "Italy now is waging for the cause of justice and her own independence" was broadcast today by the Rome radio.

Laying a wide new mine belt intended to box in the Malta naval base from all sea traffic was announced last night. Inside the mined area is Italy's "Little Malta," the fortified island base of Pantelleri, which lies roughly half way across the 100-mile stretch of sea between Sicily—at the toe of the Italian boot—and French African Tunisia.

Apparently the mines also were intended to prevent Allied naval forces and seaborn supplies from the Western Mediterranean from reaching the Allied armada and land forces in the Middle East.

NARROW STRAITS

Neutral ships passing from one end of the Mediterranean to the other now must go through the Straits of Messina, between Sicily and the Italian toe. Control stations were established on either side of Messina to sped passage of neutral boats.

(In Cairo, the Italian Minister to Egypt, Seafino Mazzolini, and his staff were handed their passports after Egypt severed diplomatic relations under the British-Egyptian alliance. — Editor's Note.)

14 DIE IN TURIN RAID

Fourteen persons were killed and 39 wounded in Wednesday's Allied air raid on Turin, industrial center of northwestern Italy, an official announcement said today.

The official report said 30 bombs were dropped on Turin. Ten failed to explode.

"A covered market was destroyed by bombs," the report said. "Other bombs fell in the streets. The planes flew at a height of about 20,000 feet. The alarm lasted about two hours. During the raid the population remained calm."

SCORES—Planning and successful execution of raids on Italian air bases in northern Africa are credited to Sir Archibald Longmore, Middle East commander of the Royal Air Force. Raids are claimed to have crippled Il Duce's African flying forces.

Egypt to Declare War If Italians Attack

CAIRO, June 13 (AP)—A government source said today Egypt's present attitude was that of a "defensive state" and added that the country would declare war if Italy attacked Egyptian military or civilian objectives.

Stock Leaders Sag Slowly

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—The war news was none too optimistic today and stock market leaders backed away after an early attempt to follow through on Wednesday's rally.

Dealings, fairly active at the start, slackened late on and, near the second hour, prices were irregularly lower.

Inclined to slip were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Anaconda, General Electric, duPont, N. Y. Central, Western Union and Standard Oil of N. J.

Bonds were a shade mixed, but commodities maintained a steady tone. "Free" sterling was down.

Turks Reaffirm Pact, Wait War

ISTANBUL, June 13 (AP)—Turkey today reaffirmed her mutual assistance pacts with Britain and France and dismissed Mussolini's offer to respect her neutrality as worthless.

The government, however, awaited developments before making any definite move toward entering the war.

The controlled Turkish press, which since Italy's entry into the war has been extremely cautious, suddenly loosed a violent attack on Italy.

There were indications these attacks reflected the government's attitude.

Maritime authorities announced Turkish shipping would continue in the Mediterranean and Aegean seas. Most German ships in these waters are plying between Istanbul and Turkish ports in Anatolia.

50,000 TO HONOR OLD GLORY AT COMMON FETE TOMORROW

More than 50,000 liberty-loving Americans are expected to gather around Parkman Bandstand on Boston Common tomorrow noon and pay tribute to the Stars and Stripes on the occasion of the 163d anniversary of the flag and also observe Flag Day.

Representatives of national, state and city governments along with outstanding leaders of fraternal, patriotic and veteran organizations, within Greater Boston, will participate in the historic celebration.

Through the co-operation of the Boston American-Record and radio stations WBZ and WBZA, of the National Broadcasting Co., and a committee of public spirited citizens headed by Judge Leo P. Doherty, the Flag Day program was completed today.

United States Atty. Edmund J. Brandon will be principal orator of the exercises and will address the huge gathering on "What the Stars and Stripes Symbolizes to You and Me Today."

CARDINAL ON COMMITTEE

U. S. Atty. Brandon, an outstanding member in several patriotic and fraternal organizations, holds high distinction among members of the bar and bench in the Commonwealth.

In a letter to Chairman Doherty today, His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell accepted an invitation to serve on the Flag Day honorary committee and announced he would have a representative present to offer benediction at the opening of the ceremony.

Representatives of both Protestant and Jewish faiths will also participate.

Because of an engagement scheduled several months ago to address the state convention of the American Legion Auxiliary, Gov. Saltonstall will be unable to attend. In his place, however, Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill will represent the Commonwealth and deliver an address on the anniversary of the flag.

TOBIN WILL ATTEND

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, along with members of the city council, headed by its president, William J. Galvin, will officially represent the city.

Units from the United States navy and United States Marine Corps stationed at Charlestown Navy Yard and members of the United States army, First Corps Area, will present their colors during the ceremonies when the entire gathering, in unison, pledge their allegiance to the American flag.

11 BANDS TO PLAY

State commander Thomas J. Quinn of the American Legion, Wilfred Jacobs, Veterans of Foreign Wars and J. Richard Zurfluh of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, have assured the committee of their presence and also large delegations of veterans from their respective organizations.

Through to co-operation of Denis W. Delaney State WPA Administrator, 11 bands totalling 325 instruments, will be massed into one unit, playing patriotic airs and the national anthem.

A choral group of more than 200 mixed voices will render several selections during the two-hour program. Through the WPA theater project a presentation of a tableau entitled "History of the American Flag," will be presented.

The program highlight will be the unfurling of the first "Old Glory" used during the initial flag raising exercises staged on Boston Common more than 20 years ago by the Benevelent Protective Order of Elks.

RAISED FIRST FLAG

The late James W. Reardon, associate editor of the Boston Sunday Advertiser was the "father" of the annual Elk's Flag Day exercises, and directed the first Flag Day flag raising on the Boston Common.

Vincent F. Callahan, general manager of the National Broadcasting Company in New England has been busy during the past few days with the committee arranging the program. John McNamara, program director for WBZ and WBZA is arranging the musical program along with William Haddon, of the WPA music project.

Several thousand children from various Greater Boston playgrounds will join in with pledging allegiance to the American Flag, following the unfurling ceremony.

George VI's Official Birthday Unheeded

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—King George VI's "official" birthday passed without celebration today, in accordance with the cancellation of such ceremonies announced on May 25. The King was 44 years old Dec. 14.

589 Army Recruits Sought in Bay State

Massachusetts is leading in the U. S. Army drive to obtain 1100 men from New England for enlistment by June 30, Maj. Gen. James A. Woodruff, commanding the first corps area, said today.

A total of 589 men is wanted from this state. In Maine 109 men are wanted, New Hampshire 63, Vermont 51, Connecticut 243 and Rhode Island 97.

BOSTON FLAG DAY PROGRAM

Here is the program for Flag Day exercises at Parkman Bandstand, Boston Common, from noon to 2 p. m. tomorrow:

Patriotic musical selections by massed bands and orchestras, numbering 350 instruments, under direction of William Haddon, state director of WPA music projects.

Selections by the mixed choral groups.

Tableaux outlining history of our flag from 1497 to the present time.

Music by massed bands, as radio announcers describe over nationwide hookup the crowds and purpose of the gala celebration on historic Boston Common. The program will be broadcast through WBZ and WBZA.

America by the massed bands and choral groups.

Introduction of Judge Leo P. Doherty of Boston, chairman of Flag Day exercises.

Selections by the WPA bands.

Introduction of distinguished guests and committee members.

Address by Horace T. Cahill, lieutenant governor, representing Governor Saltonstall.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, representing the City of Boston.

Patriotic songs by the bands, accompanied by choral groups.

Orator of the Flag Day exercises, Edmund J. Brandon, U. S. attorney.

Raising of Old Glory to be followed by oath of allegiance to the United States.

National Anthem by bands, choral groups and gathering.

Taps and salute to the colors by members of the United States army, navy and marine corps.

Address by Denis W. Delaney, WPA state administrator and honorary member of the Flag Day committee.

Brief remarks by Lt. Col. H. C. Pierce, of the U. S. Marine Corps, Charlestown Navy Yard.

William J. Galvin, president of Boston City Council, dedicates the exercises and orders the affair be rad into the city records for posterity.

Introduction of State Commanders Thomas J. Quinn of the American Legion, Wilfred Jacobs of Veterans of Foreign Wars, J. Richard Zurfluh, Disabled American Veterans of the World War; and newly-elected National Commander E. C. Appleby, of the Yankee Division Veterans Association.

Remarks by Mrs. Pauline Revere Auerhamer, great-grand-daughter of Paul Revere.

Brief address by Rabbi Joseph Shubow, of Brighton, representing the Jewish faith.

Closing prayers offered by veteran organization chaplain, representing the Protestant faith.

Grand Finale with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Loan Denied, She Shoots Bank Head

CLINTON, June 13—Harman Morse, 60, president of the Clinton Trust Co., was shot through the mouth today by a woman whom bank officials described as an "unsuccessful applicant for a loan."

Mrs. Bessie Tisdale Smith Tracy, 48, divorcee of less than a year, according to police, was taken into custody by officers.

Mrs. Tracy and her husband, parents of a 29-year-old son, operated a gift shop in Hudson until about a year ago, when they were divorced and Mrs. Tracy—who resumed her maiden name of Smith—took over the management.

She was granted a small bank loan just before Christmas, officials said.

Atty. George E. O'Toole and other officials were called to the bank immediately after the shooting.

They said Morse was in his office with Mrs. Tracy, discussing a new loan, and at the conclusion of the talk the woman rose and drew a pistol from her handbag. She then fired two shots at Morse.

One of the shots missed its mark, the other went through Morse's mouth and chin. He was taken to Clinton Hospital. There it was reported his condition was not serious.

Police Captain Wins Degree

Capt. Thomas J. Kirwan of the Medford police department is a member of the graduating class of Suffolk University, it was announced today.

He is married and the father of three children and makes his home at 41 Metcalf st., Medford.

Capt. Kirwan is a past exalted ruler of Medford Lodge of Elks and served with North Sea mine force during the World War.

Prior to matriculating at Suffolk University, Capt. Kirwan attended Medford grammar schools and the Berkley Preparatory School.

Harvard to Honor Leading Alumnus

The first awarding of the newly established Harvard Alumni Association medal to the alumnus who has done most "for service to Harvard" will be one of the innovations at the 100th meeting of the Harvard Alumni Association on Commencement afternoon, June 20, it was announced today by Dr. Elliott C. Cutler, president of the association.

A special centennial gift by the alumni to the college will be announced.

RUNNELS ARRESTED IN BED

AUGUSTA, Me., June 13—In a hospital bed, resigned State Controller William A. Runnels was placed under arrest today on three indictments charging larceny of state funds.

The arrest came only a short time after counsel for Runnells and his family began a fight against the state's efforts to recover approximately $135,000 in safety deposit boxes held in names of the family.

The state claims the amount is part of $157,000 reported by auditors as allegedly missing from accounts Runnells handled as state controller.

Train Crash Deaths Laid to High Speed

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission reported today a finding that "excessive speed on a sharp curve" combined with other factors caused the derailment of the New York Central's Lakeshore Limited at Little Falls, N. Y., April 19, with a loss of 31 lives.

Twenty-six of those killed were passengers. Fifty-one persons were injured.

What About Depth Bombs?

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

If you took the tallest mountain in the world and put it in the deepest part of the Pacific Ocean it would be a mile under water.

And that's the spot for us. Especially since they bombed Switzerland.

It all happened when a dictator made a speech in the mountains and then had to listen to the echoes. He was one of those muggs who stands for back talk from nobody.

Willkie Sure Of Victory

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, 48-year-old utilities executive, carried his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination into the industrial east today, expressing confidence that he has a good chance of winning.

Willkie, whose eleventh-hour entrance into the Philadelphia convention contest he describes as a "topsy-it-just-growed" candidacy, threw down the gauntlet to the New Deal on everything except its foreign policy in talking to reporters yesterday.

LETTERS POUR IN, OFFERING TO ADOPT ORPHANS OF WAR

New England's desire to accept refugee children from the war-torn countries of Europe grows.

Writing in the Sunday Advertiser, George Bradbourne said:

"If you want little blue-eyed, golden-haired girls from Britain and chubby boys with sunny smiles from France, WRITE FOR THEM.

"Your letters will show officials in Washington that you really wish to keep the little ones.

"If enough people write, immigration restrictions may be quickly relaxed and the children brought here."

MORE LETTERS NEEDED

In the past three days more than 1000 men and women have written to the editors of the American, Record and Sunday Advertiser.

They do want these children. They will adopt them. Or they will keep them as long as the conflict lasts over there.

All letters are being forwarded to the Special War Orphans' Bureau opened by this newspaper in Washington in co-operation with the Record and Advertiser.

From there they go to officials who have the authority to solve immigration problems.

More letters are needed. More offers to take the children are necessary. And they are confidently expected, for charitable-minded New England will not ignore little girls and boys who are homeless, motherless and fatherless.

Typical letters in today's mail say:

FROM WORCESTER—"My wife and I would love a child, a girl if possible, or a boy about a year old from any Allied country. I have a good public service job and can provide adequately for a little son or daughter.

"I hope things will be so adjusted that the little ones can come here very soon. To leave them over there is to risk their lives unnecessarily. Red tape should not interfere with this charitable work."

HAVE NO CHILDREN

FROM FALL RIVER—"I would like one of those poor unfortunate babies you have been writing about.

"Taking them into our homes is the least we, in this beautiful land of freedom, can offer our afflicted brothers in other lands.

"Hubby and I have been happily married for many years, but have no children.

"We are Catholics, have our own home and can afford to give comfort and security to baby son or daughter.

"Could you help us to find a little English speaking girl, about three or four years old?

"She may have blue eyes or brown, straight hair or curly. We ask only that she be normal and healthy."

FROM SANFORD, ME.—"We would love to adopt a little British or French girl, about two years old. We would love her always as our very own."

AN EMPTY HOUSE

FROM GREAT BARRINGTON— "We have a very large and empty house. For years my wife and I have hoped to be the parents of a son or daughter. But we have been disappointed.

"We have everything to give a child, if arrangements can be made to bring a little French or British baby to us.

"I don't believe in separating children. So if there are a brother and sister available, we shall gladly take them both and adopt them."

WANT GIRL OF 5

FROM YORK VILLAGE, Me. —"I have read your article on war orphans, and my husband and I feel that we are in a position to care for a child, preferably a little girl four or five years old.

"We are financially able to give the little one everything her own parents would want her to have."

FROM MERRIMACK, N. H., —"My heart goes out to the children over there. It is bad enough to know that so many hundreds are motherless and fatherless. But it is worse to realize that they are in grave danger of losing their lives in bombardments, poison gas raids and epidemics.

"I'd like a little Dutch baby, one of two years of age."

Ban on Fireworks Asked as 'Defense'

Declaring "the general public sale of fireworks gives to the saboteur an easy method for the purchase of quantities of explosive material," the National Fire Protection Association today proposed emergency measures to ban their promiscuous sale and use on Independence Day.

With "the whole interest of the nation centered in a program for national defense," Percy Bugbee, general manager of the association, said:

"There is no more needless waste of powder and other forms of explosives than through this senseless orgy of noise and hazard each year. At a time when the governors of many of our states are putting a 24-hour guard around the armories to prevent the theft of explosives and other war materials by foreign agents bent on sabotage, the general public sale of fireworks gives to the saboteur an easy method for the purchase of quantities of explosive material.

"Aside from the question of national defense, the putting of firecrackers, roman candles, sparklers, and similar devices, in the hands of children brings an appalling annual toll of human suffering . . .

"In the war for our independence, 4044 Americans were killed and 6004 permanently disabled. In the years 1900 to 1930, alone, 4290 Americans lost their lives and 96,000 more were injured by fireworks. It is pretty grim patriotism to kill and injure more people on a holiday celebrating our independence than were killed in the Revolutionary War."

Tin-Badge Deputies Paid 18-Carat Prices

WORCESTER, June 13—Forty-nine-cent badges which were resold to deputy sheriffs for $5 and $10 highlighted evidence in the trial of Sheriff Oscar Rocheleau and two of his aides as the defense called the last of its witnesses today.

The badges were pinned on deputies on payment of the $5 or $10, according to Jail Master Herbert S. Buss, on trial in superior court on charges of conspiracy and bribery.

Buss is co-defendant with Sheriff Rocheleau and Deputy Sheriff Hugo N. Peterson, the sheriff's chief clerk.

The badges, Buss said, were purchased in lots of 500, at a total cost of $470. The government contends the badges cost 49 cents each, and produced in evidence a bill purporting to be from the maker, listing the badges at that price.

Buss said he had never made any $5 weekly contribution to the association, and that he was paid $300 a year as secretary-treasurer of the organization. He said he never received any money from Hugo N. Peterson, a co-defendant.

Buss also testified he never showed the accounts of the association's fund to Sheriff Rocheleau

Townsmen Aid Maine Pair Held in Jehovah Hall Fire

KENNEBUNK, Me., June 13—Townspeople today came to the aid of Everett Nadeau, 46, and Ralph LaBarge, 26, arrested on charges of arson in an aftermath to the burning of Kingdom Hall, headquarters of the religious sect Jehovah's Witnesses.

After the men had pleaded not guilty and were ordered held for trial June 26, friends furnished each with bail of $1500 and obtained counsel.

The two men were arrested during a demonstration following a hearing of six members of the sect who are charged with assaults with a dangerous weapon in connection with the shooting of two local youths Sunday morning.

Nadeau is the father of Roland Nadeau, 19, who testified at the hearing of the sect members yesterday that the shots which wounded his two companions, Dwight Robinson, 22, and Fred McDonald, 23, were fired without warning from the headquarters of the sect.

Defense Bills to Get Quick Senate Action

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Senate got the last of the record-making $5,021,619,622 preparedness bills today as Capitol Hill heard reports of "excellent progress" toward further aid to the Allies in planes, munitions and possibly destroyers.

The final big defense measure—an extraordinary $1,706,053,908 appropriation for both army and navy purposes—bore the overwhelming approval of a 401-to-1 House vote. Rep. Marcantino (NY) was the sole opponent.

Double-quick Senate action was a foregone conclusion, once the legislation clears the Appropriations Committee.

House passage of the bill late yesterday shared legislative attention with the Senate's refusal to sanction voluntary military training for Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees—something which the Army high command declined to endorse.

The action was viewed in some quarters as an indication that the Senate would not favor nationwide compulsory military training at this time.

The Senate did vote, however, to give the CCC training for non-combatant activities, a program which army officers said would make the corps a valuable military auxiliary in a national emergency.

James J. McEntee, CCC director, said a staff of 1500 experts probably would be drawn from industrial sources to instruct the 300,000 enrollees in communications, photography, and machine shop trades.

In the field of aid for the Allies, Congress heard the first suggestion that men as well as materials be permitted to go abroad as reinforcements. Rep. Celler (D.) of New York, offered a bill to repeal the ban on American enlistments in foreign armies.

Introduction of the bill coincided with a forecast in New York that its early approval was likely. Vladimir Jabotinsky, president of the world new Zionist organization, coupled the forecast with an assertion that most of the 100,000 American Jews of military age were not only ready to fight for the Allies, but were already negotiating for the opportunity with authorities in London, Paris, Ottawa and Washington.

The campaign for material aid to the Allies proceeded on numerous fronts.

CONGRESS WANTS TO ADJOURN

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Despite fresh suggestions for further study of tax and farm problems, administration leaders claimed enough strength today to adjourn Congress June 22.

Proposals to follow the billion-dollar defense tax bill with a general revision of the revenue laws were made in the Senate Finance committee. Secretary Morgenthau agreed that this would be an opportune time for the work "if you gentlemen want to stay here," but Senator Connally (D.) of Texas, said:

"Too many senators want to go home."

A request that Congress take a "fresh look" at the farm surplus problem came from Sec. Wallace, who said that the Administration may recommend increased funds to dispose of surplus food to the American needy and to European war refugees.

UTMOST SERVICE

"The ever-normal granary program," he said, "has placed the United States in a position to be of the utmost service to a suffering world when and if fears of famine and scarcity abroad become reality."

Congressional leaders gave no immediate indication whether they would act on Wallace's suggestion, but it became evident that they were trying to clean up the legislative calendars rapidly. Senators in touch with the White House said that President Roosevelt was satisfied with progress of last-hour measures.

After two days of speechmaking on foreign policy, the Senate called for final action on the $1,073,000 000 relief bill. It rejected late yesterday, 47 to 35, a proposal by Senator George (D.) of Georgia, that voluntary military training be provided in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

On a voice vote, it then approved the Administration suggestion that CCC enrollees be given non-combatant training in such lines as communication, cooking, engineering and photography.

MAY TAKE LONGER

Even though Administration followers won a finance committee agreement to vote Saturday on the tax bill, the Senate debate next week may take longer than they first anticipated.

A major fight was in the making over a proposal by Senator Byrd (D.) of Virginia, to wack 10 per cent from non-defense and "non-essential" appropriations. Byrd estimated that his proposal would save $500,000,000.

The CIO advised Chairman Harrison (D.) of Mississippi, of the finance committe that the House-approved bill would fall heavily on low income workers and small business men.

IRA Leader Given Death Sentence

DUBLIN, June 13 (AP)—Thomas MacCurtain of Cork was sentenced to death today for the murder of Detective John Roche at Cork Jan. 3. Execution of the I. R. A. leader, son of a former lord mayor of Cork, was set for July 5.

Roche was shot to death as he challenged a group of men in Cork while the Dail was debating in Dublin a bill authorizing a nation-wide roundup of the outlawed I. R. A., extremist organization.

Rep. Connery Backs Hearst Defense Plan

WASHINGTON, June 13—Compulsory military training, in citizen's camps, schools and colleges, was heartily endorsed by Rep. Lawrence Connery (D.) of Lynn, in response to a poll being conducted among legislators by the Hearst newspapers.

Rep. Connery joined the steadily increasing number of senators and congressmen, who have praised the plan, suggested by William Randolph Hearst in his "In the News Column" appearing in the Boston Daily Record, while at the same time expressing a definite opposition to a huge standing army, such as maintained by the European dictatorships.

The majority interviewed favored the maintenance of a small, compact force, on the Swiss plan, backed by a vast citizen reserve force of highly-trained young men, expert in the use of the finest fighting equipment known to science.

Sentiment also was enthusiastic for the extension of rifle matches in schools and colleges, such as have been conducted under the sponsorship of William Randolph Hearst for the past 20 years.

Rep. Connery said:

"In view of the present grave situation in the world, I believe a universal military system of training is necessary. The Swiss system, as advocated by the Hearst newspapers, appears to be a feasible and efficient method.

"I oppose this nation becoming militaristic, however. Wholeheartedly, I approve military training and rifle practice for youth in the schools. The Panama Canal should be enlarged and another canal be built across Nicaragua."

GREEN FOR "ONE HEAD"

U. S. Sen. Theodore F. Green (D.) of Rhode Island expressed himself in favor of a democratic system of universal military training.

"I favor a democratic system of universal military service during the present military emergency, but not as a permanent policy. The same is true of military training and rifle practice in the schools. I favor naming of somebody to be in charge of all armed forces."

Rep. Frank O. Horton (R.) of Wyoming:

"What we all recognize as vitally necessary is universal training. The Swiss have worked out a good plan. It is a good idea to teach the young fellows in school how to shoot."

U. S. Sen. H. Styles Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire favored widening the scope of the Hearst rifle matches.

"I am vigorously opposed to having a large standing army in peacetime. I am in favor of compulsory military training in war time, but not in peace time. I am in favor of continuing the Hearst Rifle Matches and also giving ofan opportunity to others to have this practice in our schools.

"EXPAND CANAL"

"We must proceed immediately with the expansion of the Panama Canal facilities. We should have greater speed in or national preparedness with the thought that its purpose is defense for the Western Hemisphere."

Representative Vincent F. Harrington (D.) of Iowa:

"I favor military training and rifle practice in the schools and think there should be more naval and military academies, but do not favor the two-ocean navy plan. I think the Panama Canal should be enlarged, but do not see the need for building of the Nicaraguan canal."

Reynaud Sends Plea To F. D. for Help

tier is menaced. The naval war is going to open.

"You have generously replied to the appeal I sent you some days ago across the Atlantic. Today, June 10, it is my duty to make a new and larger demand.

"At the same time you state this situation to the men and women of America I beseech you to declare publicly that the United States accord to the Allies their moral and material support in all means save the dispatch of an expeditionary corps.

I beseech you to make this before it is too late. I know the gravity of such a gesture. The gravity itself demands it must not intervene too late.

"You said yourself on October 5, 1937, 'I am forced, and we are forced, to look things in the face. The peace, liberty and security of 9 per cent of the population of the world are put in peril by the 10 per cent of the others who are threatening the breakdown of all international law and order.

"'Certainly the 90 per cent who wish to live in peace under the reign of law in conformity with moral principles which have been universally accepted through the centuries can and must find a way to make their will prevail.'

THEIR HOUR STRIKES

"The hour now comes for these 90 per cent citizens of the world to unite against the mortal danger which menaces us. I have confidence in the solidarity of the American people in this vital struggle the Allies are leading for their own safety, but also for the safety of American democracy."

The text of President Roosevelt's reply follows:

"I am compelled and you are compelled to look ahead. The peace, freedom and security of 90 per cent of the population of the world are being jeopardized by the remaining 10 per cent who are threatening the breakdown of all international law and order.

"Surely the 90 per cent who want to live in peace and under law in accordance with moral standards that received almost universal acceptance through the centuries can and must find some way to make their will prevail."

White House Silent About Reynaud Appeal

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—White House officials were silent today on cable dispatches from Tours detailing Premier Reynaud's appeal to President Roosevelt, but would not deny it had been received.

There was reason to believe the Reynaud message was sent after American Ambassador Bullitt had shown the French premier the text of the President's June 10 Charlottesville, Va., speech.

Observers gathered that Reynaud while appreciating the extent of Mr. Roosevelt's pledges of aid at Charlottesville, was urgently seeking a formal declaration of American government policy as a more emphatic move to bolster French morale.

FRENCH BLAST FORTS

BASEL, Switzerland, June 13 (AP)—The French resumed today their daily shelling of German forts along the Rhine river north of Basel. It continued throughout the early morning, but the Nazis maintained the silence which spokesmen in Berlin had said might be broken soon.

Baden villages in the strategic corner north and northeast of Basel lay smouldering in ruins from the daily assault, and foreign observers wondered why the German, with occasional exceptions, had replied only with infrequent light bursts of fire from the big guns of the powerful Istein Rock Fortress in the last few days.

Military experts said that apparent reductions in forces on both the German and French sides of the Rhine in the last 24 hours indicate neither planned to launch an offensive across the river.

However, German troops remained in the Black Forest, north of the Swiss frontier.

The Swiss desire to maintain friendly relations with Italy was indicated by continuation of the Swiss airlines' daily commercial flights from Locarno to Rome.

FRENCH HURL NAZIS BACK FIVE MILES

back eight miles from Rethel—the zone of a German operation apparently aimed at turning the great Maginot line.

Meanwhile Italy, in her first detailed communique on operations, reported air raids "of particular importance" on the French naval base at Toulon and the French Tunisian base of Bizerta, and claimed the sinking of a cruiser and an oil tanker in the Mediterranean.

Great Britain, moving the vanguard of 120,000 school children out of bomb-conscious London, announced surrender of part of a division to German forces on the French coast, where the Nazi high command yesterday had claimed capture of 26,000 Allied troops and six generals.

British reinforcements were being speeded to France today. The British kept a stream of ships moving across the English channel loaded with men, guns, rifles and tanks.

2 Million Nazis In Paris Drive

By KENNETH T. DOWNS

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 13 (INS)—German forces concentrated their heaviest drive in the Champagne area today. Their offensive is now employing 120 divisions.

The famous cathedral city of Reims "probably has been taken."

Intention of the Germans to circle Paris now has been made clearly evident in the west by their crossing of the Seine river and in the east by their crossing of the Marne.

The Associated Press reported that Gen. Hering, military governor of Paris, had left the city to take his army command after declaring Paris an open city with Gen. Dentz in charge. Notice of his action was posted on the city walls this morning. The declaration that Paris is an "open city," French said, meant that the city proper would not be defended, in order to avoid destruction.—Editor's note.

2,000,000 IN ATTACK

Pouring down from the plateau of Tardenois, the German legions are concentrating a smashing attack against the famed champagne region.

Three or four armored divisions, plus three motorized divisions, plus an undisclosed number of infantry divisions are hammering down this path to Paris.

In the face of this devastating drive the French have withdrawn (here two words censored) to the hills near Reims and Juneville.

The Germans poured even more fresh units into the holocaust.

A French spokesman, ever conservative, this morning estimated that the Germans have 120 divisions—or about two million men—on the attacking front.

He added a trifle grimly:

"They have about everything in now."

SMASH AT SEINE

The object of this terrific smash against Champagne is to cross the Marne and circle Paris from the east (here 14 words censored).

The continued German offensive along the Seine complements the intended double envelopment of Paris.

The French are resisting firmly at points between Pont de l'Arche and Mantes, where a crossing of the Seine was effected. The Germans there have not gone far.

So far the German efforts on the Seine have extended no further down the river than a point near Rouen. But today reconnaissance elements were reported all the way to the sea and in the region of the port of Le Havre.

The French are continuing their heroic resistance in a salient formed in the region of Senlis north of Paris. They launched one counter-attack which regained eight kilometres (about five miles).

The Germans are holding the Chateau Thierry bridgehead but have advanced no farther. They have launched no attacks in the Ardennes, against the Maginot line, the River Meuse or the Rhine.

A spokesman declared:

"Two delicate points at present are the lower Seine and Champagne. We are holding well. But we must await results of today's developments."

He indicated that "todays developments" may be of great importance.

The Italian end of the war is still entirely aerial. The Italians, it was stated, bombed Malta without "great results."

But Allied aviators, especially the Royal Air Force, "shellacked" industrial establishments at Milan and Turin. They also bombed bases in Ethiopia, Lybia and Italian Somaliland.

The French spokesman said the latter attacks came as a surprise and effected "very interesting results."

Asked if Reims were in the hands of the enemy, the spokesmen replied:

"Probably it is. We have withdrawn to the hills of Reims."

Allied warplanes continued their bombardments of Frankfurt, Mannheim and Neustadt in Germany and of German lines of communication in France. The Germans concentrated their heaviest aerial attacks there (three words censored) along the lower Seine.

It was reported that R. A. F. attacks on a port in Libya damaged an enemy warship and two submarines.

Nazis Hit Maginot Line, Storm Paris

BERLIN, June 13 (AP) With German troops almost surrounding the northern environs of Paris, the Nazi juggernaut struck heavily far to the east of the French capital today and the high command reported the capture of Chalons Sur Marne in a move apparently threatening directly the French Maginot line from the rear.

The strong German gesture in the direction of the Maginot defenses followed reported heavy cannonading at the extremity of the Maginot line near the Swiss border.

Chalons Sur Marne is about 125 miles east of Paris and almost directly south of the western end of the Maginot fortifications.

FARTHER THAN IN '14

The high command reported the Marne river—farthest point of penetration by Kaiser Wilhelm's armies—had been crossed in several places from Chalons toward Paris, carrying the Germans farther south than they ever reached in the World War.

The French line, already thinned out by the constant extension to keep contact with the Maginot on one end and the Atlantic coast on the other presented what German sources said was the fullest opportunity for the Nazi troops to hit at various points.

German advances were reported eastward between the Meuse river and the Argonne forest a sector guarded by Verdun, of bloody World War memory. Verdun is the flank guard to the western end of the Maginot line.

SURRENDER DEMAND

The picture of Paris facing the fate of Warsaw and Rotterdam was drawn again by authorized sources as German troops forced their way almost to the outskirts of the city.

Some German source said the fate of Paris most likely would be decided "within the next hours."

Informed circles here were without information whether parts had been declared an open city.

In Paris, the French declared the city "open" to save it from the devastation of total war.—Editor's note.

Authorized sources said the French would be asked by the German high command in a radio broadcast to surrender the capital.

The high command said more than 100,000 prisoners had been taken since the Germans began their offensive against Paris on June 5. Allied losses in war material were said to be enormous.

SIX GENERALS CAPTURED

The high command, in its communique, declared that attempts of the British and French forces encircled on the English channel coast in the region of St. Valery to escape across the sea had been frustrated.

It repeated a previous announcement that an Allied force in this region had capitulated and that 26,000 prisoners, five French generals and one British general and immense booty had been taken.

London admitted that 6000 British troops in that area had been forced to surrender.—Editor's note.

6000 Allies Captured; British Join French

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Military circles said today that about 6000 British and French troops were captured by the Germans at St. Valery, on the French coast, where high cliffs and heavy fog prevented the re-embarkation of more than a "comparatively small number" of Allied forces surrounded there.

The troops were running out of ammunition and food, informants said.

Troops that were re-embarked have been re-landed in France and "fresh reinforcements are in line and fighting under French orders," they said.

WOULD SAVE PARIS

Apparently the Germans have "engaged all their armed forces" in the battle for Paris which has been declared an open city, it was added.

The declaration that Paris is an open city was "taken to mean the outskirts of Paris will be defended but there will not be any street fighting in Paris."

"There seems no doubt that the Germans have flame-throwing tanks," these circles said, "but there are no definite reports of their having been used yet."

About two brigades of one of the B. E. F. divisions were surrounded at St. Valery, it was said, while two brigades retired with the French below the Somme. The former forces had attempted with only partial success to reduce the German bridgehead at Abbeville.

MORALE KEPT HIGH

South of the Seine, fresh British troops recently arrived from the United Kingdom were said to have taken their place in the line with their French comrades.

Their bearing and discipline were said to have done much to maintain the morale of the Allied troops who have been fighting day and night to stem the German advance.

Referring to the fighting for Le Havre, the British source said that it had not necessarily fallen and pointed out that two Britis brigades had fallen back to help the French with defence.

The Germans have claimed to be in possession of "incalculable" quantities of captured war materials this source said, but "whatever the interpretation of this word, the quantity of material taken was not enormous."

Argentine Guards Ships After Blast

BUENOS AIRES, June 13 (AP)—Special guards of maritime police today were assigned to all ships of belligerent nations in Buenos Aires harbor as a result of the explosion of two time bombs last night aboard the British Royal Mail freighter Gascony, which killed an Argentine stevedore and injured five others.

The bombs apparently had been placed to sink the ship at sea.

BRITISH IN INDIES IRK JAPS

TOKYO, June 13 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office said today it regarded with "extreme gravity" a published report alleging that 2000 British troops had landed in the Dutch East Indies after the islands requested protection.

While both the Dutch legation and the British embassy here denied the report, the Foreign Office awaited direct word from its own consular representatives.

In London the Netherlands government denied a rumor that British troops had landed in Dutch East Indies.

The report was published by the large Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi in a dispatch from Surabaya, Java, which said a British officer had disclosed accidentally that he was a member of a force sent from Singapore to East Java.

ALLIED FORCE LANDED

The status of the Dutch East Indies, rich in rubber, coffee and tin and strategically located between the Indian and Pacific oceans, has been a matter of special concern to Japan ever since Germany occupied The Netherlands.

On May 11, the day after the invasion of Holland, an Allied force landed in the Dutch West Indies "to prevent possible German attempts at sabotage" in oil refineries there. London said the action was taken "in full agreement with The Netherlands."

On this same day Japan announced she had notified all powers concerned that she would insist on maintenance of the status quo in the Dutch East Indies despite European developments, and similar stands quickly were taken by Great Britain, France and the United States.

CAUSE OF CONCERN

The Netherlands government meanwhile assured Japan that foreign protection for the East Indies neither was needed nor sought.

With the government on the alert over the Nichi Nichi dispatch, a second report, also unconfirmed, caused concern in government quarters. This report, received by the foreign office, said that a Dutch naval plane had machine-gunned a Japanese fishing boat off Gaspar Island, in the South Pacific, near the Marshall Islands.

The Foreign Office said that if this were confirmed a formal protest would be lodged.

Mexico Plans to Oust Nazi Propaganda Chief

MEXICO CITY, June 13 (AP)—Government circles expected the Mexican foreign ministry to announce officially today that Arthur Dietrich, brother of Adolf Hitler's press chief, head of the German legation's press bureau and director of Nazi propaganda in Mexico, had been asked to leave the country.

They said the request was sent to the German legation by the foreign ministry yesterday and that despite reported pressure of the legation to prevent Dietrich's expulsion, reversal of the order was unlikely because of the United States' interest in the case.

These sources said the action was taken after a painstaking investigation into Dietrich's activities, of which the United States government was kept informed, allegedly had revealed that:

1—Dietrich's office served as a relay point for instructions from Berlin to German ships at sea and to German agents in other American nations.

2—Dietrich organized and directed, from his office here, a number of agents in the United States.

3—Dietrich's offices were headquarters of a propaganda system which spread from Mexico to most of the American republics.

4—The Nazi press chief, through his propaganda and "other activities," sought to influence Mexican internal political developments.

Uruguay Acts to Balk 5th Column Activities

MONTEVIDEO, June 13 (AP)—The Chamber of Deputies today approved by a heavy majority a government bill regulating the right of association with a view to suppressing organizations which might carry on "Fifth Column" activities.

Passage came at the end of a stormy session in which leftist deputies contended that the bill represented treason to democracy.

The measure went through without any amendments and was sent to the Senate.

Contest Rules

1—The Typical American Family Competition, conducted by the Boston Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American, in co-operation with the New York World's Fair of 1940, is open only to citizens of the United States residing in Massachusetts.

2—The name and address of each family, with the number of children, boys and girls, must be submitted on the official entry form, together with a letter of not more than 300 words describing the family and explaining why it should be selected as the Typical American Family in Massachusetts. No photographs will be returned.

3—Entries will NOT be judged by the literary style or excellence of the letters submitted, but strictly on the qualifications and characteristics of the family.

4—A recent photograph or clear snapshot of the family must accompany the entry.

5—The entry of a candidate family may be submitted by a relative or friend, or by a member of the family.

6—Entries close on Saturday, June 15, at midnight. The completed form must be mailed or delivered to the Advertiser-American Typical American Family Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass., before that time.

7—The selection of the Typical Family will be made by a committee of distinguished Massachusetts men and women will qualified to establish the requirements of a Typical American Family, and the committee's decision will be final.

8—The parents and two children of the Typical Family selected, the eldest child to be not over 18, will be transported from Boston to the New York World's Fair and back by automobile, with all meals and hotel expenses paid. They will be entertained at the Fair for one week, beginning July 22, without any cost whatever to themselves. The Family, while at the Fair, will live for one week in a completely furnished house built inside the Fair Grounds in accordance with the standards set up for home construction by the Federal Housing Administration. The house accommodates four persons, and for this reason only four members of the Family selected may go to the Fair. The Family will have complete freedom of action as to what they want to do and see. They will, in fact, live each day as they would during any normal holiday period.

9—It is understood that entrants give permission to publish photographs and stories of their Family.

10—This competition is not open to employes of the Boston Sunday Advertiser-Boston Evening American, nor of other publications or advertising media.

Bares Fake 'Fortune Tellers'

"The Mystic Circle Murder," which comes to Trans-Lux screen tomorrow, reveals the trick devices by which the fake "fortune tellers" mulct their victims of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Starring Betty Compson, it features Madame Harry Houdini. According to the widow of the master magician, phony fortune tellers act as come-ons for the underworld, leading their victims to believe that they are guided by the spirits of the departed.

In "The Mystic Circle Murder," a young newspaperman tries to save his heiress-fiancee, who is mourning the death of her mother, from the clutches of "The Great La-Gagge."

The co-feature, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," is a revival of one of the best of the adventure films.

'Lillian Russell' For Scollay, Modern

The Scollay and Modern screens, starting tomorrow, will show "Lillian Russell," fabulous American beauty of a fabulous American era, starring Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Henry Fonda, Edward Arnold, Warren William and Leo Carrillo. On the same bill will be "The Biscuit Eater," a dog classic, featuring Snowflake, the season's pet dog star.

'IRENE' HELD AT KEITH'S---BOSTON SCREENS WAR EPIC

Musical Stays Second Week

While the RKO Boston screen goes gravely dramatic with Columbia's "Mad Men of Europe," the Edmund Gwenn-Mary Maguire co-starrer, Keith-Memorial carries on merrily for a second week with "Irene," Herbert Wilcox's sumptuous spectacle starring Anna Neagle.

"Irene," screen musical by Alice Duer Miller, is based on James H. Montgomery's 20-year-old song-and-dance show that gave us the still popular tunes, "Irene" and "Alice Blue Gown."

Miss Neagle—she who will be remembered for her brilliant Queen Victoria and Nurse Cavell portrayals—is delightful as Irene, the pretty, shy Irish girl who becomes a model, crashes society and has her choice of two prince charmings, Ray Milland and Alan Marshall play these likeable young men.

Importantly featured in the cast are Roland Young, May Robson and Billie Burke.

The new companion feature, "Beyond Tomorrow," is a story of a young man's too rapid rise to success and the struggle of his charming sweetheart to hold his love against the wiles of a beautiful actress. The cast is headed by Charles Winninger, Richard Carlson, Jean Parker, Helen Vinson, C Aubrey Smith and Harry Carey.

As an added attraction there will be a new issue of "Information Please," featuring the regular radio group with Ruth Gordon, stage and screen star, as guest expert.

Marijuana Film Praised

A group of prominent Bostonians interested in the problems of youth attended the special screening of the marijuana film, "Reefer Madness" yesterday afternoon. The picture which comes to the Globe Theater tomorrow is a tense, dramatic tale of what the world's most feared drug does to the minds and morale of America's high school students.

The United States district attorney's office, the Boston School Department, the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs and the Women's Christian Temperance Union and representatives of other welfare units were enthusiastic in their reaction to this propaganda film, designed to stamp out the drug, the greatest foe of American youth.

Loew's State to Give Cigars to Fathers

Fathers will be on the receiving—not the giving—end on Sunday, Father's Day, when Charles E. Kurtzman, division manager for Loew's, will distribute cigars to the first 200 fathers attending the matinee performance of "The Mortal Storm," the Margaret Sullavan-James Stewart co-starring production at the State Theater.

MARY MAGUIRE co-stars with Edmund Gwenn in "Mad Men of Europe," war thriller on the RKO-Boston screen.

Boston's Movie Clock appears today on Page 28.

Beulah Bondi Delighted With Boston Visit

Recalled to Hollywood for retakes on "The Captain Is a Lady" when she was here for the recent world premiere of "Our Town," Beulah Bondi quietly returned last week because "Boston and New England have such a pull for me."

At a press luncheon at the Cafe Vendome yesterday, Miss Bondi one of the screen's busiest character actresses and least actressy interviewees, revealed that her "heart interest," if any, at the moment is Boston.

"I'm a mid-westerner by birth and a Bostonian by inheritance on my mother's side," she said. "My mother's people were the Marbles. One of them was a rather well-known architect and if I hadn't been so busy being 'shot' on the set all one day and night for the retakes I would have found out some data on him and the rest of the family before I returned here."

Miss Bondi is rather more than an "interview" to the local movie critics who developed a genuine fondness for her when they met her some years ago on the "Maid of Salem" set in Santa Cruz, Cal.

Mention of the regrettable passing of E. E. Clive, long one of Boston's favorite actor-managers before he left for Hollywood and film fame, recalled that pleasant occasion and particularly Clive's heart-warming inquiries for old friends here. He always spoke of Boston as his home, Miss Bondi said, and expected to retire to it "when the screen divorces me."

But for fun, she gives you "The Captain Is a Lady" set, with Helen Westley the ring-leader of the eyebrow-lifting department. Miss Westley, according to the admiring Beulah Bondi, is a couple circuses rolled into one on any set and death to gloom. "The girls"—the girls including also Helen Broderick, Marjorie Main and Billie Burke—were kept in a constant state of hilarity during the shooting of "The Captain Is a Lady," nee "Old Lady 31." Miss Bondi avers.

After Air Blitzkrieg Struck Paris—People, seeking any type of refuge during the recent Nazi air attack on Paris, found such scenes as this when attack was over. Germans dropped more than a thousand bombs, killing 254 persons, including 20 children, with 652 injured. That was a week ago and today finds the German army at gates of Paris.

MAYOR TOBIN outlines an elaborate program calling for construction of highway projects costing more than nineteen million dollars and intended as a solution for Boston's traffic problem.

He waxes particularly enthusiastic in his description of an ambitious $10,500,000 overhead artery to span the city's downtown section.

It would be a broad, four-lane affair involving extensive land takings and reaching from the Charles River Dam at Charles st. to far-away Broadway, past the Boston and Albany railroad yards.

All this would be accomplished sometime in the future, and the necessary money would be more or less painlessly raised over a 20-year period.

Of course, the whole thing sounds very beautiful, even though it is still in the dream stage.

The only difficulty is that the Mayor seems to be forgetting some other lanes which he promised the people of Boston just a few weeks ago.

These were not mythical things up in the air.

They were sensible, much needed painted white lines down on the ground, where traffic-menaced pedestrians could walk safely between them.

So, like Banquo's ghost, we break in on the Mayor's dreaming and ask:

"What about these safety lanes for Boston's walking population? WHERE ARE THEY?"

SLENDER PERSONS should beware the mental effects of the weather in Spring, and short, stocky individuals should take the same precautions in Summer and Autumn.

This information has been soberly imparted to the American Medical Association by Drs. William F. Petersen of Chicago and Hans H. Reese of the University of Wisconsin.

It seems that the weather profoundly affects human blood chemistry. With these blood changes go the feelings of exhilaration and buoyance or of depression.

In people tending toward corpulence, an increase in blood alkalinity produces smiles and a happy disposition.

The thin man, on the other hand, becomes blue and irritable when his alkalinity drops.

The eminent doctors may be right. Their words and reasoning are impressible. But we are not entirely convinced.

When the temperature soars dangerously upward to the 90 mark, we are still going to think a great deal more about the New England East wind that cools and refreshes our body than about our blood's alkaline content.

"DO YOU WANT A JOB?" the town of Plymouth vainly asks. Nobody volunteers his services. People still desire employment, but not the kind the historic haven of the Pilgrims is advertising.

The unwanted work requires neither brains nor brawn. All one has to do is to spend next Saturday in the stocks once used to punish Colonial law breakers.

The purpose is to add color to the town's 301-year-old "Market Fair," a tourist attraction.

But the strain on backs, wrists and ankles is too much.

Perhaps the early settlers were wiser than we who have abolished the stocks and substituted more lenient punishments, such as five-dollar fines and suspended jail sentences.

The stocks may not add much to the scenery, but they certainly give those who sit in them plenty to remember.

WELLESLEY GIRLS find the teaching profession less attractive. Slightly more than one-fifth of the 239 students who have registered with the College Personnel Bureau want to preside over classrooms.

More than two-fifths of the job-seeking graduates favor statistical or secretarial work.

Others have indicated a preference for scientific and technical research, while some who are not mentioning their plans undoubtedly intend to marry in the not too distant future.

The decline in schoolmarm popularity at this college, distinguished for decades for the teaching ability of its alumnae, is not surprising.

The supply of teachers greatly exceeds the demand.

Obviously, the practical Wellesley graduates realize this and are looking elsewhere for employment.

GOVERNOR SALTONSTALL, a sincere believer in military training for American youth, believes in practicing what he preaches.

The approaching summer will find his two oldest sons, Leverett, Jr., and Peter, in training camps.

As the Commonwealth's first family, the Saltonstalls are setting a commendable example for other families and their sons.

SHIRLEY ROSS IN "HIGHER AND HIGHER"
Columnist Durling Finds Her Performance Entertaining

HOW'S the new baby? What's your nickname for him? Friends of mine call their youngster "The Skipper." Does he look like you or his pappy? How's he doing? Maybe you could check with what they say is the case of the average baby. Smiles at three months, attempts to sit up at five months, recognizes friends and cuts first tooth at six months. Begins to talk at 10 months, to walk at age of one year, says four words together at 15 months and runs when two years old.

"WARMONGER" is a word much favored by those with Communistic leanings. And when you find it in an article you can be almost certain the piece was written by a Red . . . Good cold ham is plentiful in New York, but good potato salad to go with it is hard to find . . . Next to the entertaining Shirley Ross and Jack Haley what made me laugh most while seeing "Higher and Higher" was the trained seal. Very clever animal. In London they had a play about two actresses and a trained seal. Title of this play was "Goodness, How Sad!" . . . A young woman of Manhattan who calls herself a "roving secretary" and takes dictation from a number of clients is doing all right. She rides from office to office in a shabby looking car.

SEVERAL HUNDRED thousand women seem to have expressed the opinion that the "ideal husband" should be "cave-mannish in a nice way." Well, I am an ambitious young fellow. I would like to be an ideal husband. Of course, not too darn ideal. But just ideal enough to make the home a pleasant place to live. Who will volunteer to tell me how you go about being "cave-mannish in a nice way?" You don't have to go in for any of that Cagney punching in the jaw stuff, do you?

"HAVE YOU NOTICED how many of the very successful career women had a first marriage that was a failure, ending in divorce?" asks a Boston client. No, ma'am I hadn't noticed it. But you may be in possession of an interesting fact there is among those having first marriage failures Dorothy Thompson, Katharine Brush, Mary (Fashion Expert) Lewis, Dorothy Parker, Joan Crawford, Bette Davis, Ginger Rogers, Ruth (Theatrical Producer) Selwyn, and many other top flight career girls.

I NOMINATE for the month's most nauseating article one titled "Why I Have Been Faithful to My Wife." A man who has been married ten years uses up three thousand words telling what a noble husband he has been. How he remained true even when a beautiful married woman tried to tempt him at a party . . . Hot dogs are barred at the Republican convention. Seems they are considered vulgar or something. The Republican Party could use a few men who could eat hot dogs and talk cold turkey.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -t- -t- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, June 13—I visited the "Gardens on Parade" at the New York World's Fair yesterday. They are delightful and I enjoyed every minute there.

The little "Garden of Today" is small enough to give an intimate feeling, and I should have liked to sit down on the little bench and remain to read a book or to sew.

I never saw a greater variety of roses.

Mrs. Harold Irving Pratt and all the other ladies connected with the gardens were very charming. They sent me away with a sweet little corsage of carnations, which gave off the most delicate perfume all the way back to Washington.

ON THE PLANE, I sat next to a very interesting gentleman, an expert on lighting. We talked about the lighting of galleries, for he is interested in the work being done in the Mellon gallery. Then we progressed to the lighting of homes and stage lighting and the relationship which light may have in the creation of atmosphere, and how important that atmosphere may be in effect on human beings.

I read Dorothy Thompson's column on the way down. While I think she is probably right and there is nothing undemocratic in compulsory military training, I think we have to reckon with a very deep-seated feeling which many of us have fostered in the past few years, namely, that we connect military training with a desire for aggression.

In the case of very small nations, this obviously could not be true, but in the case of any great nation, military training and armament has always meant to us the possibility that people would desire to aggrandize.

Therefore, it seems to me that we should devote ourselves to developing in our young people, skills which would be useful in either peace or war. They should desire universal service because, if we believe in democracy, it is worth serving.

Perhaps, in the future, we can trust ourselves when we give this service to our democracy not to be afraid of losing that democracy through militarization. A willingness to discipline ourselves and accept whatever life may hold in store for us is all-important now.

The thing which troubles me today, is meeting people who are worried about what the future may bring. We can be sure of nothing in this world, certainly of no material thing, but whatever we are as individuals, can not be taken away from us.

That is the security we should give young and old alike—a security in our own ability to meet whatever comes, with courage, with constancy and self abnegation.

MASSEY OFFERS SELF TO CANADA

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, June 13—Meyer Davis is negotiating for the purchase of the Olney Summer Theater, near Washington . . . Joe Rines, the band leader, bought the Evergreen Club in Bloomfield and is installing his own orchestra there . . . Abbott and Costello will leave "Streets of Paris," the World's Fair hit show, to concentrate on their radio program—in which, for the first time, they have to read the script, instead of memorizing it . . . Raymond Massey, who was wounded in the last war, is leaving for Canada shortly to see how he can help. Massey insists he's still young enough to be able to operate an anti-aircraft gun, and "Mr. Lincoln" probably will do it.

GYPSY ROSE LEE

DAVID SELZNICK visited Herman Mankiewicz's home and discussed the success of "Gone With the Wind" . . . "It's doing marvelously," Selznick enthused. "In Reading, Pa., for instance, 70 per cent of the population already saw the picture" . . . "What about the other 30 per cent?" Selznick was asked. "We found," he answered, "that they consisted of the unemployed, the uninterested, and . . . " "And," suggested Mankiewicz, "people who think they've already seen it."

WHEN the Dept. of Commerce studies the reports submitted by its census-takers one of the distressing items—reducing the education average of citizens—concerns the schooling received by Gypsy Rose Lee . . . When the census-taker questioned Miss Lee about her education Gypsy confided: "I went to school for two weeks . . The investigator wrote the answer: "Five weeks" . . . "But I said two," Gypsy reminded . . . "I know," he explained, "but it's against the law to have less than five."

OLSEN AND JOHNSON have been appointed, officially, assistant Sergeants-at-Arms for the Republican National Convention. They will receive additional honors when the delegates vote the first ballot . . . These new honors spring from Arizona's "Cotton Week" festival, held annually in Buckeye, Arizona. That festival is called "Hellzapoppin'," and Olsen and Johnson used that title when they brought their revue to Broadway. And so because they have popularized Arizona's "Hellzapoppin'," and entertained the state's Cotton Queen each year, when she was sent to N. Y. for the prize visit, Olsen and Johnson will receive, on the first ballot, Arizona's votes for President and vice-president.

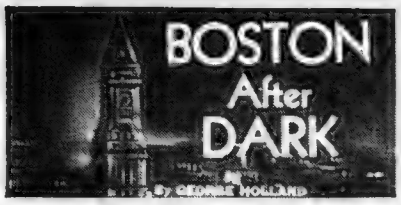
THREE NIGHT CLUBS, La Martinique, El Morocco and the Cotton Club, have shut their doors for the summer. Two more famous cafes will close next week.



IT'S TOO LATE THIS YEAR—but before another Father's Day is ringed (in red) on the calendar, we hope and suggest that Tin Pan Alley can do something about the lack of an appropriate anthem to pappy . . . Unfortunately, the song-kings of the country have never recognized the right of the fathers of the land to be represented in a dignified fashion by a song worthy of the name father—and all that it means . . . And the name means a lot, particularly at this time.

WHAT FATHER, FOR INSTANCE, CAN RESIST an appeal for a small increase in the individual allowances and the family budget at a time like the week at hand? . . . The appeal is more effective when conceived and operated in team-work . . . The scene may be the dinner table . . . "Guess what day Sunday is, Daddy?" is the conventional opening . . . "Dunno! Sunday, I guess and if you're thinking of white-wall tires for that jalopy—well there's not a chance!" might be the reply . . . (testily—and after a pause) "As a matter of fact, it would be better to turn the mess in, if you ask me And what's the difference between white-wall tires and the conservative black kind? They hold the same amount of air . . . The car runs as well on black rubber as white—"

"DADDY, D-AA-AD-DY!" (This interruption is a reproachful cry.) "Who's thinking of the old car . . . Of course you're right about having it turned in . . . Why, it's practically a shambles . . . But, daddy dear, we're not thinking of us, now . . . We're thinking of the best-est daddy in the whole wide world. Y-O-U . . . You! Sunday, daddy dear, is Father's Day!" . . . There is a real pause . . . From three sides of the table, in concert, comes the innocent query: "What would you like for Father's Day, daddy?" . . . It is time then to toss away the final edition (seven races and a full ball game) and get an estimate on the approximate cost of being happy on Father's Day.

WHEN WE TELL YOU THAT SUCH AN ESTIMATE is virtually nothing (say about a month's pay—please remember that an experienced sire of the step-ladder type (second class) is speaking . . . Because our contention last year was the highly original argument that it is better to give than receive, and if you can receive a few ties or an order for a hat—it is much better to give than to receive . . . Our position this year is unchanged . . . There are three shopping days left to Father's Day, which is next Sunday . . . Accept their estimates . . . Meet them . . . If the daughter of the house wants one of these fetching, lightweight, smooth rayon sharkskin frocks, in white and stripes, why it should be a pleasure to have here eke out an ensemble or two from the price of an electric razor or a piece of airplane luggage (for you) . . . (But the important thing to remember is that there are three shopping days left and—this is important—there are places to shop.)

BETTE DAVIS, BOYER IN 'THE GAMBLER'

By Harriet Parsons

Bette Davis

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, June 13—Warners must be completely sold on the combination of Bette Davis and Charles Boyer. Without even waiting to see how the public takes to the team in "All This and Heaven, Too," the studio is going ahead with plans to co-star them again in Dostoevsky's famed "The Gambler." Maxim Kruns is making the adaptation and Anatole Litvak will again direct Bette and Charles. There'll be a fat part for Albert Basserman as the old Russian general. Background of the story is Paris and a funny twist is the fact that Boyer plays a tutor, taking over the school books from Bette, who is a governess in "Ataht."

KAY ALDRIDGE

Boyer has a commitment to film at Paramount before he returns to Warners for "The Gambler," which partly means that Bette will be 'Calamity Jane' first. And by the way, doesn't this plan to reunite Bette and Charles seem to give the lie to those rumors about feuds on the "Ataht" set?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The whole town is romping and preparing to preen itself at the premiere this eve of "All This and Heaven, Too." Bette Davis, escorted by Boo Tapdinger, will play hostess to her mother, Mrs. Ruth Davis, her sister and brother-in-law, the Robert Pilgrims, Mrs. Robbin Lerner and Corbett Morris. Charles Boyer will also entertain his mother, Madame Louise Rossignol and, of course, his wife, Pat Paterson. In Olivia De Havilland's party are Jimmy Stewart, Margaret Sullavan and Leland Hayward, Kay Aldridge and John Swope.

EARL CARROLL'S new show, headlined by Bert Wheeler, is slick entertainment. Bert was in his old-time form at the opening and among those who got a kick out of his clowning were Lana Turner and Artie Shaw, kissing and cooing at a front row table; Judy Lamarr and Gene Markey, Purnell and Allen with Mary Livingstone, whose new nose is most becoming, Bill Fields with Fay Adler, and a stag foursome made up of Lana Cabot Bob Ritchie, Howard Hawks, and Pat De Cicco.

CARY GRANT, Dorothy Di Frasso and the Sonny Chaplin got together at the Victor Hugo on a farewell shoulder for Barbara Hutton, who's leaving soon for Honolulu. Patricia Lane flies to Miami Friday to visit her mother, which leaves Sonnie Sues and Elyse Knox to compete for the title of most-escorted lassie-about-town; Joan Sayles and Pat Dunlap, Ross Hunter, are together three or four times a week. Ann Sheridan has presented the boy friend, George Brent, with some super-special swordfishing tackle.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

JANIE BANGED the drawer of her cash register furiously and counted the customer's change bitterly. She was tired of Lacy's basement.

She was tired of being a "nice" girl, tired of her dependent relatives and their overcrowded flat; tired of depriving herself of the little luxuries which are so dear to a girl who is trying to impress a man.

And most of all, she was tired of refusing Gordon's ardent love-making.

"I'm not the marrying kind," he had told her shortly after their casual meeting. "You'll take me for what I am or not at all."

THIS ATTITUDE was part of Gordon's immense charm. Janie's nerves were constantly on edge trying to hold his attention. Thinking about Gordon six days a week in a bargain basement made the Sunday noon drives into the country seem like glimpses of paradise . . . but it couldn't last. Janie knew he would tire of her and find another girl.

By lunch hour she was almost curt with the customers and when closing time dragged around she had made up her mind. When he called for her tonight she wouldn't care if he saw the kids running wild and the house upset with dishes piled high in the sink.

He had heard about Aunt Myra's ailment before, but one more time wouldn't hurt him. She would be humble.

If having Gordon meant breaking every code of society, she would gladly break them all. She loved him too desperately to care.

BESIDE HIM in the fleeting roadster she smelled the sweet summer night. Low murmurs of life sprang from the shadowed meadows on either side of the road.

Trembling she turned her clear profile to him. "Gordon, I've something to tell you."

"Good news I hope baby, because I have something to tell you that will knock the wind right out of your sails. I'll speak my piece first. Don't ask me how, when, where, what or why I'm doing this and only heaven knows the consequences. But here goes.

"Janie, will you marry me . . . please?"

Can you write a love story as good as this? Try now. Send it to Two-Minute Story Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston. The writer of the week's best story receives five dollars.

LISTEN, WORLD!

DAD'S DAY—and, in millions of homes, some shy, skinny little man . . . some chuckling fat little man . . . will be getting neckties, smoking stands, cigars and tie clasps.

I'm thinking back to a shabby machine shop in a back alley, and a Dad who used to stare out of its cobwebbed windows between chores. A dried up wisp of a man. Thin, wrinkled neck with a nervous Adam's apple. Thin, warped hands twisted out of any human shape. Stooped shoulders under the faded shirt.

I'd brought him some gadget to fix and had lingered chatting. There were things about that little dusty shop—and the little dusty man—that set me wondering. A stuffed golden eagle over the cluttered desk. A ship model above the window.

ADVENTURES? Somehow they seemed out of place in that dingy hole-in-the-wall . . . out of place in that colorless life.

"How," I carelessly asked, "do you happen to have them? That eagle, for instance; did you shoot it?"

The little man shuffled, looked embarrassed. No, he admitted, he hadn't exactly shot it himself. But a sudden pride stiffened the bent spine, warmed the wistful eyes—he'd always been a pretty good shot. Had to practice just with a target, of course. So a fellow—one of his friends—had asked him to go along with a hunting party once. Couldn't go. First baby was just come along and they couldn't spare the time nor money.

But this friend had been mighty fine about it. He'd brought him that eagle. And ever since, looking at it—well, he got kind of a kick out of it. Made him feel almost like he'd gone on that trip himself.

I'M BETTING that, some day, Dad will stand before a more understanding Friend, who'll see beyond his faded coat and his faltering speech, and the weary days in some machine shop or service station and say . . . "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things; I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the joy of the Lord.

And I know that "joy" will include a few hunting trips. So put your arms about that Dad of yours . . . but don't be patronizing. Do it in humility and gratitude—as one salutes a hero who, for sake of love, has put aside his wreaths!

TAMP, TAMP, tamp, the boys (and girls) are marching . . . Polo fans improve on the old Civil War song . . .

The turf was moist for the semi-finals of the National Intercollegiate Polo championships yesterday and the horses' flying hooves dug up divots all over the field . . . so between the halves spectators climbed down from the grandstand and walked over the field to replace the divots and tamp them down with their feet . . .

The matches are being played this week on the beautiful polo field which stretches out in front of Mr. W. Cameron Forbes' spacious brick mansion in Westwood . . . Though Harvard's team was eliminated in the playoffs many of the fans crowding the grandstands are Harvardians and their girls . . .

Party at Myers' Farm

FOLLOWING YESTERDAY'S game in which Princeton's mallet wielders defeated West Point, most of the young people drove over to Mrs. John W. Myers' Fox Hill Farm for a cocktail party in honor of the Princeton players . . . Her sons, John, Jr., and Frederick were hosts with her . . . Fred making a double celebration of the party since he had just finished his last exam at college . . .

Arm in arm with Elizabeth Jenney, Fred did his share of tamping the divots between halves . . . Jean Saltonstall and Forbes Perkins were out on the field too, with Marian Danielson and Ted Holdsworth . . . Vinton Freedley, Jr., and Nancy Sears sat side by side to watch the match and Nancy Eliot, in a striking gray outfit with kelley green accessories, was escorted by Walker Field . . .

John Ferry was with Nancy Denny and Helen Jackson with a crowd of friends, carried along her portable radio . . . B. Nason Hamlin and host Forbes, veterans of the game, were among the fans together with Mrs. John C. Rice, Eleanor Rice, Dorothy Storer, Tom Higginson, Harvard polobist; Nancy Putnam Smith, Bill White and Arthur Lewis, father of Jack Lewis . . .

Busy Father's Day Shoppers

SOCIETY'S DADS are scheduled for some big surprises Sunday, but we can't let the cat out of the bag by telling all we learned on a tour of the shops yesterday . . . Mothers and daughters were buying everything from golf sticks to detective stories for Father's Day gifts . . . Mary Elizabeth Sears took her long-haired dachs on her shopping tour, Mrs. Theodore E. Brown of Milton paused for quite a while in front of a men's tailoring establishment, and Mrs. Paul Clark had her chauffeur bring her way down town to shop . . . She looked very modish in a green silk crepe suit with dubonnet accessories . . .

Father's Day 1941 will have a special significance for Dr. and Mrs. Charles Merkel of Detroit, who are down on the stork's books for a visit in the autumn . . . Mrs. Merkel, who was married to the Detroit surgeon last winter, is the former Mrs. Waldo Brown of Milton, widow of Lt. Commander Brown, well known aviator and sportsman . . . She is the mother of post deb Ann Brown, and the new infant will have four young step brothers to initiate him into the realm of boyhood . . . Since her marriage Mrs. Merkel has made several trips to Boston to visit her sons in private schools, and will come on to her home in Harwichport this season.

Supper Dance Draws Debs

The supper dance for the American Friends of France at the Casino in Magnolia last evening ushered in a long list of gay summertime benefit parties. Hundreds of North Shore residents turned out for the festive party which was arranged by a junior committee of debs and Harvardians.

Among the many dancers were Mrs. James Campbell, an energetic worker for the cause of French civilian refugees. She wore a lovely gown of fuchsia taffeta with an Edwardian bustle effect in the back, gay costume jewelry and a gardenia in her hair. Guests at the Frederick Bradlee's table included their debutante daughter, Constance; Jean Roberts in a flame chiffon gown with a sash of vari-colored sequins; Sister Sears whose cream taffeta gown had a bodice of black Tuscan lace and black mits, and Lucy Cochrane in a peasant costume with a black velvet basque, red and white striped skirt and full sleeved white blouse.

Harry Sturgis, grandson of Mrs. Robert Lovett, who is co-chairman of the New England committee for the American Friends of France, presided over a table of young guests who included Romaine Pierce in crisp white pique with short pique gloves, Gene Cheney in emerald green chiffon with stars embroidered on the bodice, and Sister Frothingham who stepped up to the mike and sang several impromptu songs with Sammy.

Dance to Start Harvard Fetes

Harvard seniors usher in their festive week of Class Day and Commencement activities with their big dance Monday evening at Lowell House.

Patronesses for the party are mothers of members of the graduating class and wives of the faculty and include Mrs. William Tudor Gardiner, Mrs. Clifton Long Bremer, Mrs. Peter Lee Atherton, Mrs. Elias B. Armstrong, Mrs. Guilliaem Aertsen, Jr., Mrs. James H. Burgess, Mrs. William G. Burt, Mrs. Alfred duPont Chandler, Mrs. Franklin Taylor Clark, Mrs. Walter E. New Fruit Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

Mother Nature naturally gets the credit for the different kinds of citrus fruits, but modern packers take the palm for the luscious grapefruit and oranges in cans that provide us with our summer vitamin C. In fact, they go her a few better with juice and section combinations that would stump even the trickiest tree.

While the new fresh crop is cropping out on the trees, canned citrus carries right on throughout the summer, giving that familiar winter tang to menus and making summer menu-planning a cooler, simpler job.

We do not only quaff tangy grapefruit juice for the great American breakfast-starter, but go in for using the sections in more ways than you can shake an orange blossom at grapefruit and orange juice come singly or paired in a bracing blend, and the same goes for the fluffy, perfect sections that give your salads and sherbets something to sing about on too-sunny summer days.

Here are timely suggestions for summer menus:

ORANGE-GRAPEFRUIT SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. sugar
1-3 cup butter
¾ cup milk, about
2 No. 2 cans citrus salad
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tsp. vanilla
3 tbsp. powdered sugar

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender. Add milk. Pat out on lightly floured board to ½ inch thickness; cut into 2½-inch rounds. Bake in very hot oven (450 deg. F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Split biscuits; butter. Drain citrus salad. Place orange and grapefruit sections between and on top of biscuits. To the whipped cream, add vanilla and sugar. Top shortcake with cream. Makes 8 servings.

GRAPEFRUIT AND SHRIMP SALAD

1 cup canned grapefruit sections
1 cup canned shrimps
1-3 cup diced cucumber
2-3 cup diced celery
1-3 cup French dressing

Toss ingredients together lightly. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce or watercress. Makes 6 servings.

ORANGE RAISIN SAUCE

2 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
¾ cup water
1-3 cup seedless raisins
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup sugar
1-3 cup orange juice
Grated rind ½ orange
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and mix to a smooth paste, add water and cook until thickened. Add raisins, salt and sugar and let stand for 10 to 15 minutes. Add orange juice, grated rind and lemon juice and reheat just before serving. Makes 1½ cups sauce.

Buy Dad Some Beach Togs

PROBABLY if someone didn't buy him a new bathing suit every now and then, Dad would be waring a number with knee-length trunks and a sleeved, Breton-striped shirt with a midriff like a tent. So deck him out with smart, comfortable beach clothes . . . it will be a suprise, and a change from the unimaginative type of gift on his Day. The smartest beach robe we've seen is striped terry cloth, broad of shoulder, and classic of line. It's $4.95; if you'd like a plain, solid color, in white or canary, the same robe is $3.95.

The bathing suit is a new Jantzen, a rayon, lastex and cotton mixture that looks like a fine, silky terry. Good-looking in royal blue and white; the top zips on; the trunks if bought alone are $4.95, the complete suit, $6.95. For lounge wear, so he won't pick up splinters in his bare feet, there are exceptionally nice looking terry cloth slippers, made as well as a leather bedroom slipper, $1.

You Can Be Beautiful

Sun-Baths for Slenderizing Are Absolutely Harmless

By ARLINE GOULD

CATCH THE SUN . . . and catch yourself some new figure beauty! Even if the sun stays so cold and clams out only for a day or a few hours at a time . . . you may have the Indian sign on Sol and your figure problems.

Did you ever hear of a sun-bath that reduces? That's harnessing the sun rays for their ultimate good, isn't it? This is not a thing they can turn alone, however. You should coat your body with a sun-reducing ointment which actually gets your own metabolism in terms of rapid expulsion of fatty cells from the tissues . . . and the Leviathan heat in the sun rays will do the rest!

It's an established reducing aid which is absolutely harmless. And it is the only one on earth which acts just this way. You go through a sun-bathing period of a maximum time that's good for your skin, just as you would if you were merely putting on a coat of tan . . . starting off with the wise limitation and never overdo it, even after the tan has been acquired. You can lose from one to four pounds at a time.

As a matter of recorded fact this ointment is a softening, protective affair which will also act on your skin as a burn preventive!

Should you be able to put up a couple of sheets on a rooftop to make a private solarium, you can get an early start on figure slenderizing (and just where you want the fat banished, or all over, as you wish)! . . . But if this cannot be, a scanty bathing suit will do quite as well.

Most reducing aids do not allow control of the area reduced . . . and the result may be a haggard face or emaciated legs, when what you really want is an inches-smaller hipline. This is a famous spot reducer, and guarantees leaving well enough alone where it should be left alone!

To learn all about this spot reducing (or all over) ointment . . . which may be combined with sun-baths for slenderizing, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped-self-addressed envelope.

Love and Marriage---She Loves Her Doctor

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a married woman with one child four years of age. Last year I suffered a nervous breakdown and had to undergo a serious operation. In the hospital where I remained five weeks, I fell in love with my doctor, who is old enough to be my father. He seemed to be interested in me, too, but when he saw I liked him too much, he ignored me. He's constantly on my mind, and although I know it's useless and awful, I just can't help it. I feel so dazed.

My husband is wonderful and has no bad habits. I have sense enough to know that men of his kind are hard to find, but it seems impossible to forget this other man, although I haven't seen him for a year.

My husband knows of this affair, and wants to build a nice home for us, but I don't care to be tied down in one spot. Right now I feel like moving away. I am from a good family, well educated, and we live in a small college town. I've been a good mother, and want to know some way I might forget this man, because one can't love one man and live with another with success.

RESTLESS.

There's an old quotation—the source escapes me for the moment—to the effect: "Go down on your knees and thank God for a good man's love." If you'll forgive me for saying so, your husband has spoiled you.

He knows about your crush on the doctor—hundreds of thousands of women have gone through the same experience. I've had innumerable letters from women who imagined themselves "in love" with their doctors, especially when they've had a mental breakdown.

The doctor has shown you plainly that he's not interested. Keep on being a good mother. You won't be if you let this crush get you. Be thankful for your husband and the house he wants to build. And I wish to goodness you could see some of the letters that come to me from good women who would think they were in Paradise if they had one-hundredth part of your good fortune.

R. I. City to Mark Auto Death Spots

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 13 (AP)—On Pawtucket highways soon, "X" will mark the spot where the body was found.

As part of a safety drive by the Pawtucket Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber plans to mark a Red Cross within a black circle wherever fatal automobile accidents have taken place on the highway.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Voice in "B" Flat

—By—

Helen Christine Bennett

A MAN can't fall in love with a VOICE, and that's all there is to it. George jammed down the telephone receiver, erupted from the box, and wiped sweat from his forehead. Then he shivered.

The long dock, piled high with boxes, crates and barrels, was as chilly as a Brooklyn dock can be on a spring morning. The tide was high and the ocean wind that came with it was cold. George was used to that. But this going into the dock box to phone and hearing a voice that made him sweat all over, that was something new.

In his own estimation, George Egert was hard boiled. Twelve years of facing life alone, of finding work when there was hardly any work, of holding on grimly no matter what it meant in hours and effort, and of forging ahead little by little from a roustabout to a mate's job, was enough to make any fellow hard boiled.

George was dock supervisor, checking the shipments to see that they came in perfect to the last box, sending them out again on their journey. Spices of Arabia filled the air. Brazilian coffee added its fragrance. Raisins and prunes and figs filled apricots and peaches, no matter how well they packed them, some of their delicious aroma came through. George sniffed and felt good again.

Say Mist Egert. Dat shipment of lemons from Jamaica. She's short 10 cases."

"Yeah, who brought her?"

"John Fenner."

"O. K. Peter." Inexorably George's brow grew moist. He hustled back to the phone box and called. A high, strident nasal voice answered and George relaxed. He got the cargo master of the John Fenner and reported the shortage. As he put up the receiver, the phone bell rang.

Dock Number 32?" It was the VOICE. George took a grip on himself.

"Yean"

"Mr. Nearing wishes to speak to Mr. George Egert."

"Well here I am."

"Oh, YOU are Mr. Egert?"

"All my life. Put Nearing on."

George heard her laugh, a nice merry laugh then Nearing began asking about a shipment of tea.

"Coming up the bay. Had to stop at quarantine, some trouble about one of the crew." He left the box frowning. How did you get to see a girl who had a Voice? They had a pretty big switchboard, 11 or 12 operators—well what did he care anyhow? You couldn't fall in love with a VOICE.

He told himself that day after day in the weeks that followed. George knew he was hard-boiled about girls. Never a skirt had anything on him. Marriage—George could he go to the telephone company and ask to look at a relief operator? Denison, there were lots of Denisons in the phone book. Maybe she didn't live at home. What did he want with her anyhow? But by this time he knew the answer to that one.

GEORGE GETS CLUE

For another month George wrestled with the memory of a Voice. Then he gave up and planned a campaign. He had to get this girl out of his system. He must see her. Probably, he thought grimly, that would do it. He called the telephone company from a pay station at night.

The Cast of Characters in "VOICE IN B FLAT"

GEORGE EGERT, who, despite personal protestations, falls in love with a voice.

NELL DENISON, a telephone operator who also has an interest in a certain voice.

gave that a by. As for liking a girl because of her VOICE, George sprouted gooseflesh every time he thought of it.

A MAN IN LOVE

But at nights when he sat in his room and fiddled over the ivories the voice would come. The piano had arrived with the last raise. George liked to repeat the river sounds, the thud, thud, thud of the water against the dock, the shrill of the tugs, the boom of the big steamers, the tap tap of oars and the roar of motors.

And among these now the Voice came, B flat, E flat G, and when she laughed it was C—"Surely," thought George, "I'm going nuts. Bet she's a platinum blonde with her face chalked." George liked them small and dark.

And then the voice disappeared. That is, it was never on the wire, and George never heard it. Maybe she was sick; maybe she had left. Why hadn't he hunted her up while she was there? Who would have thought she would go away? How could a man chase after a Voice? If he ever heard her again, but that was a long shot.

It was a month after she had gone that Nearing, coming to the dock to consult about some dried bananas, gave George an opening. Nearing was called to the phone box twice and he was flustered.

"Those operators have the jimjams this morn. Guess it's the heat. Nice and cool down here. Twice I got in and 'the party has disconnected'." Nearing imitated the strident nasal tones and George recognized them at once.

"Yeah, that one is pretty bad. You lost a good girl a way back. Kind of clear voice, soft and soothing."

"Miss Denison. She was good. Not ours, though, relief operator sent by phone company. One of the girls had an operation, was out some time."

So now he knew. But how

"It's yours—" he was hoarse —"the whole thing's a fake . . . I couldn't seem to forget your voice."

"Miss Denison? She is not here. Yes, she is working—what?"

George told his tale with care. He gave his own name. Some of the operators, he said, had come down to the dock one day about two months ago. After some shipments had been moved he had found a very nice vanity case with the initial D. He thought perhaps Miss Denison—

"Why, of course," said the telephone supervisor. "Why don't you call Miss Denison and ask her? Her number is—wait a minute—" George waited. He thought the glass in the booth doors must show steam.

"Miss Denison is at Boulevard 6-5973."

"And the firm's name?" The supervisor grew cautious. "You don't need that, Mr. Egert. Just call her. Not tonight, she is off at 10."

George thanked her, but he was raging. He wanted to see the girl. Grimly he went to his rooming house, lifted the telephone book and began searching. It took him a week working at it night after night, to find the number. Morton Hotel and by this time she might have gone. Anyhow it was only 5:30; he'd make it about 10. At 9:50 he entered the lobby. There were two girls on duty. They sat a little back of the foyer protected by a railing from the passeraby. One girl had the ear phones on. She was a blonde, gold, not platinum. The other girl had her back to George. She was adjusting a hat. She turned.

"Well, good night, Miss Field." He had her! She came out past the railing. George's heart missed a beat. She was exactly what the voice ought to be. A small, neat, trim girl, with blue eyes and a mass of brown curls under her absurd little hat.

"Miss Denison?" George had rehearsed it until not even the daze that surrounded him could stop him.

"I'm George Egert of the Nicholson Company." She smiled and when she smiled she dimpled.

"Yes, I remember you, Mr. Egert. At least I remember your voice.

HIS DREAM GIRL

She remembered his voice. George swallowed. He held out his alibi, a very nice vanity indeed. George had paid three dollars for it, with fifty cents extra for the D. She looked at it wondering.

"Found it," George babbled. "On the dock. Had been under some coffee sacks for some time. Thought it might be yours."

How soft her blue eyes were.

"I'm sorry it isn't mine. But it isn't. Maybe there is another girl whose name begins with D?"

"Not one." (At any rate not one who owned this vanity.)

"It looks new, too."

"Doesn't it?" agreed George. "I felt sorry for the girl who lost it. You wouldn't want to take it, would you?"

"Oh, no! You'll find the owner I'm sure. Goodnight."

Goodnight? He would lose her again! He held out the vanity.

"It's yours—" he was hoarse—"the whole thing's a fake. It wasn't lost. I just wanted—well I couldn't seem to forget your voice. And I couldn't find you any other way."

The girl looked quickly about the lobby. Two bell hops were paying close attention.

"Come outside," her tones were low and urgent. George obeyed. Walking down the block he tried to explain. It took time. They had reached her door before he had finished. He held out the vanity.

"You see it is yours."

"I see," she agreed. And held out her hand. And took it!

Mr. and Mrs. George Egert never tell the story of their courtship. For it sounds, as George says, "goofy." A man can't just fall in love with a Voice. Nell Egert smiles.

"But I always remembered yours, George, from the first time I heard it."

THE END.

Don't miss Charles McGuirk's story on this page tomorrow. It is about Albert, an eccentric dereliict, whose weakness is poetry.

AUSTEN LAKE

Survey or Best and Worst in Sport Prose

ATTENTION FATHERS! SUNDAY IS Daddy's Day —the other 364 belong to the family! Sooooo! keynoting before the Stamford Ladies' Petunia Growers Club, that hurler of literary thunderbolts and ex-champion chin-buster of the world . . . Yeh! Gene Tunney! . . . says that some of the best and vastly more of the worst in journalistic prose is printed on the U. S. sport pages.

AUSTEN LAKE

I didn't read his whole survey but I gather that the "worst" is that fantastic jargon which refers to home runs as "four masters," a ballbat as a "banana stalk," a pennant as a "gonfalon" and a myriad of similar cliches. So Daddies, let's consider the field of sport letters as a career for your male sprouts.

The best, says Tunney, is written by such cascades of persiflage as John Keiran of the New York Times, Wee Willie Corum of the N. Y. Journal-American, Dan Parker of the N. Y. Mirror. Fathers, many are called but few are chosen!

Let's analyze this! The American sport page permits more elasticity of expression, deals with more pictorial people and appeals to the most voracious appetite for fun of any nation in the world. A London sports writer, if indeed there are any British sports writers now, would draw a term of years or a stiff court plaster for writing some of the stuff we of the U. S. A. print about private individuals. In London one doesn't refer to a man's "muffin nose" or his "waffle ears" without being served with a summons. He doesn't mention the "nauseous aromas" surrounding some fight club or dub a business boxer a "floperoo" or delve into an athlete's taste for midnight prowlings. He'd get hauled up promptly for defamation! Wasn't it Tommy Farr, the horizontal Welshman, who sued Trevor Wignall for $50,000 because Trevor slurred him becomingly in British print? But U. S. sport authors blistered Tommy with impunity.

LET'S SCAN TUNNEY'S ROLL OF SPORT page honor! John Keiran, a shy and amiable man with premature gray hair and an ageold wit, earned a reputation for erudition on the "Information Please" hour. He prefers refined people and is a sort of journalistic Goldcoaster with a quiet whimsy, malice toward none and a magnificent memory. His mental treasure-trove embraces such topics as ornithology, astronomy, mythology and pie-baking. Recently when his radio master of ceremonies asked, "How many men were on base when Mighty Casey struck out! Keiran without faltering replied. "And when the dust was lifted and the men saw what occurred, there was Jimmy safe at second and Flynn a-huggin' third."

Dan Parker is a shy, amiable giant and the finest master of sly vituperation since the late W. O. McGeehan. His knack for satire hits like the smack of a wet haddock. He has a talent for dialect verse which lifts the skin. And cursed be he who incurs Dan's wrath, for he is a marathon hater with a flare for carving human flesh into paper doll shapes. His historic hates are Col. John Kilpatrick of Madison Square Garden, and Jimmy Johnston, the hyphenated boxing promoter. As I say he writes verse, as does John Keiran. But where Dan's is low-down and realistic, John's is winged and inclined to beauty.

CORUM IS A JOVIAL LITTLE MAN LIKE a middle-aged Santa who gathers his lore by sitting on the front stoop of some night club listening to a congress of mugs, aristocrats, loogans, millionaires and eggs. He has a ready ear for the American language and a wider acquaintance with both ornery and upright people than Postmaster Jim Farley. He is constantly earing up information every time he comes down from his penthouse with his rotund carcass draped in one of those music comedy getups, receiving, among other things, some very hum steers on the horses. In fact, one could make a very luscious living booking his bets on the giddy-goats year in an out, so often and so very wrong is he.

And still Mr. Tunney has barely scratched the skin of the better sport writers. There is Bob Considine, also of the New York Mirror out of Washington and a tall, languid, Hamlet type with a love for alliteration. And Bob Sahlinger of the Detroit News, whose pungent wisdom is a breakfast diet for 300,000 souls, not to mention a smattering of heels. And Elisha W. Cunningham of our town who does pieces of verbal embroidery which smacks of filigree lace on red flannel underwear. And Roy Stockton of the St. Louis Globe Democrat who pens ponderosities with a zephyr touch which makes him one of the eminents of the income tax list. And John Carmichael of Chicago and Frank Graham of the Sun and undoubtedly a lot of little fly-sheet writers around the haymow country.

JACK AND BABE DID IT

TO BEGIN WITH, until the era of magnificent nonsense soon before the first World War, the envied pioneers of sport writing were Bill McGeehan, Damon Runyon, Hugh Fullerton, Grantland Rice and Ring Lardner. Ring had been lost in the great mob of mediocrity until he began his "You know me, Al" series in the Saturday Evening Post and gradually be-

Sox Play Chicago Cubs at Cooperstown

JOE "DUCKY" MEDWICK

Goes to Brooklyn in $250,000 Trade

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (INS) Slugging Outfielder Joe Medwick and right-hand Pitcher Curt Davis were traded to the Brooklyn Dodgers for four players and an undisclosed amount of cash late last night by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sam Breadon, president of the Cards, was silent on the cash consideration, but it was rumored without confirmation to be as much as, or more than, Poston paid to get Joe Cronin from the Washington Senators which at the time was said to be in the neighborhood of $250,000.

The players President Larry Mac-

EN ROUTE TO COOPERSTOWN Put up your dukes, you Western clubs, and get ready for a Donnybrook. It's a rip-roaring, roarin', tearin' Red Sox ball team that's heading your way with a truculent swagger to the shoulder that's carrying the chip.

Yowsah, its a cocky and happy ball club that is on its way west a striking contrast to the grumpy group wh ocouldn't beg borrow or steal a good licks in their home orchard prior to the Lefty Grove dinner.

That pair of wins over the pressing Cleveland Indians yesterday and Tuesday was just what the doctor ordered to bail out an acute case of the jitters suffered by Cronin and cohorts during their home stay

GROANS TO CHEERS

The groans changed to gems in those two days and instead of wondering just how far they were destined to drop the boys are now concentrating on how high they can climb

They figure a club that can bail out of a slump at the expense of such a pair of fair country hurlers as that fast and fancy

Bees Figure to Pick Up

EVENING AMERICAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1940

Despite Bad Trip, Swarm Points To Work of Errickson, Fette, Ross

Instead of discouragement after a bad road trip which netted but two victories in 11 starts, the Bees are back home today ready to meet the four western invaders starting with Chicago tomorrow in a more optimistic frame of mind than most baseball critics would believe.

Nothing went right on that western junket, yet the Bees instead of being hopelessly in the cellar are tied for seventh place and less than three games away from the top of the second division.

Out of the many defeats several features came to surface which makes it appear that the Bees are due to get rolling.

Both Dick Errickson and Lou Fette looked great while Joe Sullivan came up with a masterful seven hitter against the Cards in the Bees' last affair out in St. Louis.

ONLY POSEDEL FAILED

Then, too, Chet Ross after tailing off slightly came back strong and now is a cinch to be considered way up there with the National League prize rookies of 1940.

The only big disappointment of the trip was the hurling of Sailor Bill Posedel, the Bees' ace slab artist who evidentally got a lot of bad baseball out of his system.

But the sailor is a proven chucker and is bound to come up with his share of wins during this 12-day home stay.

Just what sort of a starting lineup Manager Casey Stengel will throw at the Cubs is still undecided in the final game against St. Louis Case benched Tony Cuccinello for a day of rest and started Sibby Sisti at third and Bama Rowell at second.

HASSETT LEADS OFF

This new combination, together with a new batting order that had Buddy Hassett leading off, provided miracle results to the tune of 21 hits and a 12 to 2 romp.

Because of this, Stengel may refuse to break up the combination and keep Cuccinello on the bench.

Stengel also has Dick Errickson, undefeated this year, and Bill Posedel ready to shoot at the Cubs tomorrow. Dick worked against the Cubs last week and yielded seven hits in seven innings before tiring. He left with the score deadlocked at two all and Dick Coffman who relieved him was charged with the loss.

Posedel faced the Cubs Sunday and was clouted for seven hits in three frames before getting the heave ho from Umpire George Magerkurth for too violently protesting called pitches.

FRENCH TOUGH FOR BEES

The Cubs will counter with Larry French in hopes that their ace veteran right hander will run the consecutive list of Chicago triumphs over the Bees to seven this year without a loss.

French has faced the Bees twice this year. On the last Chicago visit to the Hive he allowed them two hits, one of them a scratch infield blow. And in Chicago last Sunday he coasted to a 7 to 1 victory by spreading six hits over nine innings.

During this present home stay the Bees will entertain the Cubs, Pirates, Cards and Reds over a 12-day stretch with a few doubleheaders sprinkled over the period.

DODGERS GET DUCKY

Phail of the Dodgers club will turn over to the Cardinals for Medwick and Davis are Outfielder Ernie Koy, Righthand Pitcher Carl Doyle, Infielder Berthold Haas, now on option to Montreal, and Righthand Pitcher Sam Nahem, now on option to Louisville.

Medwick joined the Cardinals in 1932 and led the National League in batting in 1937, in which year he was voted the league's most valuable player. His present batting average is .304.

Davis came to the Cards at the beginning of the 1938 season, being one of the players given by the Chicago Cubs in the big deal for pitcher Dizzy Dean. Along with Davis came pitchers Roy Henshaw and Clyde Shoun and outfielder Tuck Stainback.

The Cubs also tossed in $185,000 in cash for the great Diz, whose arm has been ailing ever since and who now is in Tulsa of the Texas League assaying a comeback.

Davis won 22 games for the Cardinals last year, which led President MacPhail to venture the opinion that:

"With Medwick and Davis I think the Dodgers ought to do pretty well during the remainder of the season."

The conservative MacPhail refused to predict a pennant for the Dodgers, nor would he give an inkling of the cash paid out in the transaction.

Lake Says:

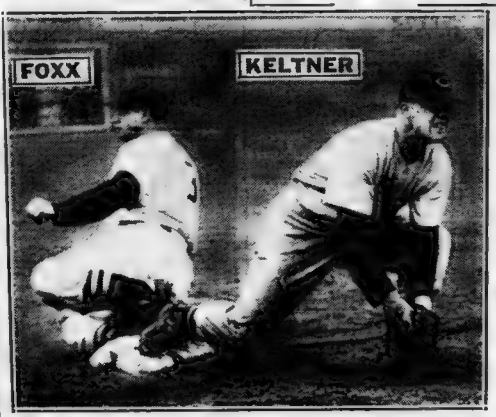
came a great short story writer and humorist who worked until he died in bed with his typewriter propped on his knees. His last words were supposed to have been, "I am trying to think of something to make them laugh."

But the thing which puffed sport into a national frenzy and made a few sport writers rich was that period after the war when Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth came along and people began unfurling their favorite family journals to the sport page with nary a blink at the political or murder news. The big fight, the home run, Paavo Nurmi, Bill Tilden, Bobby Jones, Man O' War naturally created an opportunity for sport writers to make $1500 to $150,000 a year with Runyon, McGeehan, Lardner and Rice leading the pack. But the vast bulk were in the $50 to $75 a week class, where they still are. Which is the measure of what Mr Gene Tunney means by the "best and much more of the worst" in journalistic prose.



TRAILING by two runs, the Sox scored six on big Al Milnar of Cleveland in the eighth to win the game, 9-5. Jimmy Foxx, who previously had let in two runs with an error, tied the game in the eighth frame when he doubled to left to score Cramer and Finney. Here's Jimmie reaching third on Cronin sacrifice. He scored a moment later on Spence's fly to center.

Sox Play Chicago Cubs At Birthplace of Game

Robert Feller and Lefty Al Milnar must really have something, and you know, they may be right.

Their spank new batting order, with Bobby Doerr leading off and pace-setting Lou Finney down where he can wreak some havoc, looks like a killer-diller on the strength of its first two performances.

BASEBALL BORN HERE

It's a lineup that figures to make enemy hurling look bad, so if their pitching is only fair, and it has been at least that of late, why the Hose should keep winning ball games.

And if they keep winning ball games then they'll—well you carry it from there.

The Fenwayites are stopping off today in the hamlet of Cooperstown, where baseball was spawned, to show the natives just how far the national pastime has improved in the last 101 years.

Their opponents will be the Chicago Cubs and the boys plan on handing them a good beating to soften them up for the Bees.

Then it will be on to Chicago and a night game Friday with the Pale Hose and that tough little tyke, Jimmy Dykes.

Denny Galehouse, with three wins to his credit as compared to a goose egg in the loss department, will start for the Sox and plans to be still in there at the finish. Dykes as yet hasn't named his opponent.

That six-run splurge to sew up yesterday's ball game in the eighth was a real exhibition of Red Sox power when its really percolating. That Cleveland team knew it was being paddled by a better ball team.

Mickey "Lefty" Harris, starting for the Sox, lacked his customary speed and proved a soft touch for the visitors.

TABOR HOMER

They put over a run on three singles in the second, but in the last of the frame Jim Tabor came through with his eighth homer, after Teddy Williams had walked, and the Sox were ahead.

A double by Ken Keltner and single by Hal Trosky tied the count in the fifth, only to have the Sox regain the lead in their half when Desautels singled, Doerr walked and Cramer singled.

Up to this point, Harris had yielded nine blows to four by Milnar.

In the sixth, though, Mickey's luck deserted him. He was found for singles by Mack and Hemsley, first two Indians to face him, and then was caught asleep on a Milnar bunt which went for a single, filling the sacks.

Here he was lifted, and once more Joe Cronin picked the proper relief choice, even though it appeared otherwise when the Indians put over three runs before Jim Bagby could quell their uprising in that frame.

CHECKED BY BAGBY

"Junior" got Lou Boudreau on a pop to Doerr. Next he forced Roy Weatherly to roll between first and second but the ball trickled through Foxx' legs and two runs registered. A third came in as Keltner was forcing Weatherley.

That ended the scoring for the Indians but the Sox put on their show in the eighth.

Cramer singled sharply to left for a starter and raced to third when Finney singled to the same spot, bringing up Foxx.

"Double X" hadn't made a hit. He had made a costly error. Could he redeem himself? He could and did.

Bringing the count down to 3 and 2, he unloaded on the next pitch rifling it on a line to left-center for a double to rescue Cramer and Finney and tie the score.

Then Williams drew a walk and Milnar drew an order to retire in favor of Harder.

Cronin greeted Chief Mel with a sacrifice, advancing both runners. So Tabor was purposely passed.

Here it was that Spence batted for Desautels and lifted a fly to center which put the Sox in the lead. But they weren't through. Bagby, who had relieved the starting Mickey "Lefty" Harris on the hill in the sixth, brought in another run with a sharp single to center. And, finally, Doerr singled off the leftfield wall, bringing in the fifth and sixth runs of the inning.

That, of course, was the ball game.

Star-Dust

By Associated Press

Charley Keller, Yankees—Hit three-run homer to beat Tigers 7-5.

Bob Johnson and Sam Chapman, Athletics—Their home runs accounted for all Philadelphia scoring in 3-2 victory over White Sox.

Ken Chase, Senators—Held Browns to six hits to break five-game winning streak.

Jim Tabor, Red Sox—Hit two-run homer and double to lead Boston to triumph over Indians.

Paul Derringer, Reds—Kept eight hits scattered to beat Phillies 2-1 for his eighth straight victory.

Whitlow Wyatt, Dodgers—Beat Pirates with nine full innings of relief pitching, allowing only five hits and fanning five.

DODGERS HEADED FOR FLAG

By Associated Press

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who already had everything else, now have Joe Medwick. And if they don't have the National League pennant come October it will be because there's no water in the Gowanus Canal or money in the Brooklyn Trust Co.

The Flatbushers are in first place and it's no fluke. They have won nine of their last 11 games and never have been worse than second since the day the season opened.

No great imagination is needed to figure where a club that strong will go with the addition of the league's outstanding outfielder, who never has hit less than .300 in his life, and a pitcher who won 22 games just last season.

TROUNCED BUCCS

The Dodgers were on the verge of a pitching shortage and last night at Pittsburgh designated Lefty Vito Tamulis as a front-rank starter.

He gave up four hits and hit one batter for three Pittsburgh runs without ever getting a Pirate out in the first inning. Then Whitlow Wyatt took charge and allowed only five hits for the remainder of the game and the Dodgers ultimately triumphed 5-4.

This victory was enough to keep Brooklyn out in front of the Cincinnati Reds, who edged out the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in another night game. Paul Derringer gave up eight hits to the five Cincinnati collected, but he was careful in the pinches and would have had a shutout except for an error.

The Yankees had to come from behind to win, but proved themselves capable when Charley Keller blasted a three-run homer in the seventh inning. The Tigers had belted Marvin Breuger for five hits and four runs in the first two innings, but ran afoul of the relief hurling of Bump Hadley, who gave only two hits in the last seven frames.

JOHNSON HITS HOMER

The Philadelphia Athletics took a strange test from the Chicago White Sox, 3-2. The A's were held to three hits by Thornton Lee, but two of these were home runs by Bob Johnson and Sam Chapman. Johnson's clout was his 11th of the year and came with one on.

The Washington Senators edged out the St. Louis Browns by the same score, 3-2, on the six-hit pitching of Ken Chase, who was the only southpaw that had any luck all day. This was the first setback in six games for the Browns.

Pirates Sign Collegiate Star

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the signing of Pitcher J. Addis Copple, who has just been graduated from Washington College at Chestertown, Md. He will be optioned at once for development with the Albany club of the Eastern League.

The Pirates front office reported the righthander one of the best hurling prospects in collegiate baseball ranks and said he was signed in the face of stiff competition put up by other major league clubs hot on his trail.

By JACK CONWAY

MICKEY HARRIS, youthful Red Sox pitching star, has ended the dispute over who should get the credit for his baseball development.

MICKEY HARRIS

"I don't know what the shooting is all about," said Harris as the Red Sox started for their Western invasion, "but if it makes the record clear credit for my success is due to Jack Egan. Jack used to be coach of Providence College, while he is now a Red Sox scout.

"Egan took me by the hand and helped me up the baseball ladder. He taught me many of the fine points of the game that I formerly didn't know."

One must admire young Harris for his frankness and for his willingness to give credit where it is due.

Eddie Collins and Tom Yawkey are specializing in youthful pitchers. When Collins and Yawkey established the extensive Red Sox farm system several years ago, they decided that star pitchers could not be bought, and that they must be developed. Time and countless experiments will accomplish the result they desire.

There is still an element of luck in securing the right type of new material. All things being equal the Sox now have the necessary baseball setup to get the most out of their rookie players. The case of Lou Finney is proof that a club must get a few breaks to come up with star players. When Lou was purchased by Eddie Collins from the Athletics for $10,000 he was considered merely as a spare player to have around in the event Jimmy Foxx was stricken with sinus.

Finney had never been much of a hitter with the Athletics.

Then the miracle happened. Hugh Duffy discovered Finney's batting weakness, corrected it, and Lou has become one of the leading hitters in the American League.

THE WESTERN invasion that opens in Chicago on Friday will determine the pennant hopes of the Red Sox.

The present home stay was not a happy one. Injuries and illnesses deprived the club of many of its regulars until the Cleveland series.

The Sox will journey West with their full playing strength. The new lineup has given the team additional batting punch, and if the pitchers do their bit the Sox have a good chance of returning home in first place.

The Yanks will also be campaigning away from home, and they will meet much the same kind of opposition as the Red Sox. On the records, the Yanks over the years have been a better road club than the Red Sox.

Cleveland and Detroit will try to improve their positions in the standing while at home. The recent playing of the Tigers has been sensational. The new blood injected into the Detroit lineup has gained startling results.

GEORGE HUESTIS comes to bat with a letter calling attention to the fact the galloping greyhounds will be in action at Wonderland Park on June 24. Huestis writes as follows:

"This is the time of year when the racing pups look for a little attention and now that they have migrated north from the recent Florida campaign, I've renewed my annual spring acquaintanceships and they've practically asked me to pass the word along to you that they're ready for Wonderland's opening on June 24. And that star little performer Swifty, too, wants you to know that he's prepared to give the canine gallopers the annual run-around.

"The cream of these greyhound speedsters are kenneled in and around Revere and are being put through the schooling paces. George Funk, track manager; and Sheldon Fairbanks, who'll direct the racing activities have spent virtually the entire winter looking over the field and have succeeded in getting together what they believe is the finest array of racing greyhounds ever to appear on a race track anywhere.

"They are especially pleased over the large number of promising juveniles which had excellent records during the winter season in Florida. They have booked over a score of young blood which many today rank with such noted celebrities as Rural Rube, Jingle Jangle, Suwanee, and others of such calibre.

"Perhaps outstanding among the youngsters is Art Wilson's Brave Gesture, which was a standout performer at Biscayne. He won seven out of his first eight starts in the South, and tied several track records besides coming close many times to Rural Rube's world record of 31 seconds flat for the 5-16s. Wilson, one of the foremost American breeders, believes this year he has the fastest kennel in his long experience as owner and trainer.

"Joseph L. Ayotte of Attleboro, first of the local owners who have gone into the business on a large scale, returns with another excellent kennel of youngsters and veterans. He will race Rural Court, Esther Collins, General Finance, Court Decision, Town Court and Standard Cab, all of which kept him high on the list of purse winners last winter at Hollywood and Biscayne."

Fathers' Day is Sunday, and I know that the event will be a grand success. Fathers should have at least one day a year when they are permitted to take a bow even though they may later receive the bills for their gifts.

Roslindale, Caseys Meet on Town Field

Several thousand diamond devotees will converge on Dorchester Town Field tonight when the West divisional leading Dick Casey Club engages the famed Roslindale Town outfit in a Boston Park League feature.

For the first time in Dorchester this year the great Charlie Bird, New England semi-pro pitching idol, will be exhibited by Casey and the Roslindale strategy board of Bill Bailey and Eddie Conway will select their chucker from Ace Healy, Lefty Pinkham and Johnny Grimley at gametime.

Healy stemmed the Casey unbeaten surge last week at Roslindale while Jackowitz on the Casey hill was establishing a Park League strikeout record, fanning 12 consecutive batters.

After defeating the Casey Club last night at South Boston, the Caseys being saved from a shutout by a lone marker, Ray Coolidge will take his Carter Clothiers to Fens Stadium, where St. Alphonsus awaits a chance to break the triple tie of which they are a holder with Roslindale and St. Augustines.

Local interest will be manifested at Bunker Hill when the two Barry Park tenants go to bat, and in the fourth and final clash carded, Artesani and Hal Crosby Clubs will shift the battle scene to Smith Field.

Barney Pallis won for his bat with Artesani on Tuesday against the Hellenics and last night hurled his club to a shutout over Hal Crosby.

Tiger Poloists In Final Round

Capitalizing on the breaks, Princeton today had moved into the final bracket of the National Intercollegiate Polo Championships by defeating army, 11 to 9.

Two of the Tigers' tallies were unearned. One was awarded them on an Army foul, the other came when the ball caromed off a pony and passed through the goal.

Pennsylvania Military College today meets Yale to select the finalist.

Noble Kizer, 40, Rockne Player, Ace Coach, Dies

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 13 (INS)—Noble E. Kizer, 40, Purdue athletic director, and during his college days a lineman on Notre Dame's famed "Four Horsemen" eleven," died here early today.

Kizer had been in poor health for some time. Death was caused by complications resulting from high blood pressure and a kidney ailment, physicians said.

After coaching the Purdue football team for seven years, Kizer retired in 1937 because of illness and was succeeded by Mal Elward. During Kizer's tenure, the Boilermakers compiled one of the greatest gridiron records in Purdue history. His elevens lost only nine Big Ten engagements in seven years and out of 58 games against all competition dropped only 13 decisions, with 3 ties.

Dodgers' Pilot 'Elated' Over Deal

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—"Elated" was the comment of Leo (Lippy) Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, early today when informed of the trade which brings his league leading team outfielder Ducky Medwick and pitcher Curt Davis from the St. Louis' Cards.

"Will that mean the pennant for Brooklyn?" he was asked.

"I'm elated, in a hurry and gotta leave," was the reply.

Sources close to the Brooklyn club said they believed St. Louis received $150,000 in cash and four players, including outfielder Ernie Koy.

Reba Nell's Pups To Run at Revere

Four offsprings of Reba Nell, winner of the '39 Wonderland Derby, will compete in the grand summer meeting at the Revere dog track, which opens one week from Monday night.

The quartet—Desert Sun, District Ranger, Patty Pye and Drifting Rose—are participating in the current schooling races at Wonderland, and already have proved they will further garnish the family name.

Best of the lot seems to be Desert Sun, which proved his class to the hundreds of spectators at the mid-week schooling races by covering the futurity distance in 29.1.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

for a "father song" . . . Kay Kyser had his troubles last night in getting his so-called "students" to as much as remember a title which might give testimony that Tin Pan Alley had ever given a thought to father . . . "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" begs the question . . . Even Mary Martin, who introduced that torchy ballad, will admit that the lyrics do not clearly single out a pater-familias as distinguished from a daddy-sugaris . . . And remember, "Daddy, Poor Old Daddy—(You're more than a mother to me!")?

"POOR OLD DADDY" didn't even win that one for himself exclusively . . . The tribute there was not an appreciation of the father's qualities as a fine provider, a thoughtful administrator and unselfish administrator . . . No . . . It merely gave him credit for being a hit sort of mother . . . And that award, that other song—"Everybody Works But Father!"

EVEN THE VERY NICEST song yet to come out of the area of Forty-Eighth to Fifty-Second Street on Broadway and Seventh Avenue in tribute to a father, the one entitled: "I Want a Girl" was the ultimate in a back-handed compliment . . . It is drawing the long bow to claim father as the hero of that corny, but harmonious, old ballad . . . Remember the words? . . . "I wanta Girl—Just Like the Girl— (Who Married Dear Old Dad.") . . . You see father got a break in that one by indirection. It was a tribute to his good taste, but now that we give it some thought father—although he is gently referred to as "dear old Dad"—was a very secondary subject in the whole business.

WELL, THAT'S WHAT WE mean . . . Let's have a song about "father!" . . . A spelling song even . . . "F-A-T-H-E-R—" would have to be the opening . . . Then, after telling what all the letters stand for—you'd put them altogether and they'd spell —. Well, in every home, I guess it's different . . . If it should happen to spell "c-h-u-m-p chump"—that should be alright, too . . . Father's Day comes but once a year.

12 Beers Per Day Win Him Divorce

Testimony that his wife ordered a dozen bottles of beer daily won marital freedom for Edmund J Hayes of Somerville, petitioner for a divorce in Middlesex probate court from Mary M. Hayes

Hayes testified that he surprised the grocery boy bringing beer into his home one day. The boy, he testified, said that he had a standing order to deliver 12 bottles daily.

PETS FACE OLD RIVAL TONIGHT

Boston Olympets will face a familiar and formidable rival tonight when they clash with the Connecticut Yankee Girls in the feature game of a twin bill at the Garden

HIT BY GRADUATIONS

Tonight both nines will be handicapped because of high school graduation exercises. Four of the New Haven regulars will be missing while the Pets play without Virginia Dagg, center fielder; Rose Boyle and Ellie Haydock, third sackers, and Frieda Frantzen, outfield spare.

Ben Levias, whose Totem Pole team will meet the Everett Angels in a preliminary tilt tonight, will lend Maddy English, his regular third base custodian, to the Pets to fill in for the graduating third sackers.

MAY PRATT PLAYS GARDEN

Mary Pratt, who pitched excellent ball last season, will be on hand for the first time tonight and will play the outfield in place of the missing Miss Dagg. Mary is a left-handed thrower.

On the mound for the Pets will be the capable Helen Johnston, who started the team off to a winning season a year ago when she defeated the New York Rovettes.

Muscle Men Hold N. E. Spotlight

Field event men promise to outshine the foot racers in the New England A. A. A. U. track and field championships which are to be held at Tech Field, Cambridge, Saturday.

McLaughry

Foremost among the "mussle men" entered are Bob Bennett of Cranston, R. I. and University of Maine, who will try for a new world record in the hammer.

Bennett broke the national intercollegiate record in his specialty at the Penn relays but missed out on the I. C. 4-A. record because of the downpour.

One of his opponents Saturday will be John McLaughry of Brown, who finished second in the recent I. C. 4-A's. With Matty Flaherty of New Hampshire, Norman Wilcox of Rhode Island State and H. E. Hearne of Williams also in the event, a new New England record in the event is practically certain.

Al Morro of Boston College Dick Gill, captain of the B. A. A. Frank Zeimetz, Bill Dow, Douglas Raymond, Don Fleet and Bob Folsom are other top notchers who will be seeking victories in order to make the trip to the nationals in California next month.
